500 RETURN FOR GRAND REUNION

M. E. Tydings, '10, Elected President

Forty-eight Classes Represented—
Class of '92 Wins Trophy—
Fund Established

THE GRAND REUNION, June 6, with about 450 former students attending the fortieth annual meeting of the Alumni Association of the University of Maryland, was the largest reunion ever held at College Park. Forty-eight classes, beginning with a lone member of the Class of '74 of the Maryland Agricultural College, were represented.

United States Senator Millard E. Tydings, '10, was elected president of the Alumni Association for the forthcoming year, 1931-32. John Mudd, '07, of Philadelphia, was named vice-president and Thomas B. Symons, '02, was reelected secretary-treasurer. All elections were unanimous.

Alumnus Comes Far

The cup for the class having the largest percentage of membership in attendance went to the class of '92 which was credited with an 85 per cent average.

Other awards were presented to former State Senator, Frank C. Norwood, '74, of Frederick, as representative of the oldest class in attendance; Preston L. Peach, '03, as the alumnus who traveled the greatest distance to attend the conclave, and to Raymond Carrington, '28, for work in connection with the association publicity. Peach made a journey of 10,000 miles from British Malaya, China, to be present.

Cole Speaks At Luncheon

Congressman William P. Cole, Jr., '10, in the principal address at the luncheon, declared that "Maryland stands shoulder to shoulder, not only with the other institutions in the State but with the greatest institutions in the world." He lauded the efforts of Governor Albert C. Ritchie and the Maryland State Legislature for their support and cooperation in providing

Rev. Hobbs Delivers Baccalaureate Sermon

Rev. G. Warfield Hobbs, Jr., executive secretary of the department of publicity of the National Council of the Episcopal Church, delivered the Baccalaureate Sermon to the Senior Class in the University Auditorium, Sunday morning, June 7. The subject of the address was "The Road Forward." The class was urged by the Rev. Mr. Hobbs to "believe something—make something your ideal; search out the root of this pessimism in the hearts and tongues of leaders throughout the land. Challenge this depression and refute it. There is no safety for you today—I am glad of it. You will step into unrest and revolution. You will need your daring." "Citizenship in the finest sense of the word should be the aim of every college graduate," he said in conclusion.

Declares Resources Of Nation Are
Its People — Pres. Pearson
Awards Diplomas

HIS EXCELLENCY, ALBERT C. RITCHIE, Governor of Maryland, delivered the Commencement Address at the graduation exercises of the College Park branch of the University held June 9 in the Ritchie Gymnasium. In his address Governor Ritchie pointed out the value of youth in the business and industrial fields of today. The Governor declared: "The nation's most valuable resources are not in the land, in agriculture, in industrial possibilities, nor in water power, but it is the people"—"For a nation," continued the Governor, "is as great as it is educated and the earning capacity is in direct ratio to training received in school."

Following Governor Ritchie's address, Dr. Raymond A. Pearson, president of the University, conferred degrees, military commissions, and medals to more than 250 students. The commencement exercises, which was the largest ever held at College Park, brought to a close the 71st scholastic year for the College Park schools.

for the present and future University of Maryland. Also he lauded the efforts of Taliaferro, Gwinner, Bomberger and Byrd, the infant of the quartet, for their contributions in the early development of the institution. "It has meant more than many of us realize," said Congressman Cole.

Senator Tydings confined his brief remarks to a plea for closer cooperation among the alumni in the association next year and urged that an even larger turnout of alumni be effected at the meeting next year. One thousand was the goal set for attendance at the 1932 gathering.

Welcome by Dr. Pearson

Dr. Raymond A. Pearson, president of the University, characterized the reunion as the greatest in the history of the University. In closing, he summarized the great university as the one whose purpose it is to serve, to the fullest extent, the demands of its people.

In his talk on the new athletic facilities of the institution, H. C. Byrd, assistant to the president, traced the development of the past year and outlined the future program which will include new field houses for both men and women, along with numerous subsidiary improvements. He stated that during the past few years, the University of Maryland had attained an extremely satisfactory position in the world of athletics.

Stephen A. Gambrell, Congressman from the fifth district, and J. Enos Ray, State Democratic leader, both of Class of '92, were the other speakers at the alumni luncheon.

Alumni Fund Established

Establishing of the Alumni Fund was the most important action of the business meeting. J. H. Mitchell, '98, made a very comprehensive and concise report on the recommendations of the Alumni Fund Committee for the establishment of the fund, its purposes and its advantages.

Under the provisions, alumni are to be urged to subscribe to the fund at periodic intervals. The fund was to be made available for any worthy university project and not to be regarded as an auxiliary to the State appropriations. Upon establishing the fund by unanimous vote, C. W. Cole, '21, immediately stated that the class of '21 would contribute $100.00.

Others Speak

Other alumni who gave interesting talks at the meeting were: Senator Frank C. Norwood, '74, J. B. Gray, '75, J. F. B. Hyde, '75, and Rev. C. J. Fletcher, '76, on events in the old days at the Maryland Agricultural College. Miss Frances Wolfe, '25, gave a talk on the accomplishments of the Maryland Co-eds. Preston Peach, '03, told of his experiences during his seven-year stay in British Malaya.

Supper Dance Successful

Reunions of the separate classes were held in the afternoon, a baseball game between Maryland and Washington and Lee followed, and an alumni and faculty supper-dance completed the program of the greatest reunion ever held.

OLD LINE ATHLETIC ACTIVITIES

By W. H. ("Bill") HOTTEL

Maryland Teams Enjoy Banner Year

Score Some Brilliant Victories And Capture Sixty-five Per Cent
Of All Contests

Maryland's athletic teams have a lot to be proud of and nothing to be sorry for in the varied program that was carried out during the 1930-31 term.

Beginning with the football season and winding up with a baseball game, the Old Line representatives went through a series of interesting combats with attractive rivals and when the results were summed up it was found that they had won more than 65 per cent of their battles. This applies to the freshman as well as to the Varsity teams.

A high spot of the year was the winning of the Southern Conference basket-ball championship in which the Old Liners marched through a field of teams that represented the best in Dixieland. Along with the corraling of the coveted title, Bozey Berger and Ed. Ronkin were picked on the all-Southern quint and later the former was named for all-American honors.

Maryland had preceded the basket-ball season with a football campaign that was about as interesting as any the Old Liners ever have played, although the team won only 7 of its 12 games. The others, though, were fine battles against top-notch adversaries, the 6 to 0 contest that Navy won at Annapolis before more than 25,000 being a sample of the brand.

Maryland's wins included a triumph over Hopkins and victories over all of the "Big Four" of the Old Dominion, Washington and Lee, Virginia, Virginia Military Institute and Virginia Poly.

Playing the hardest lacrosse schedule of any team in the country, the Old Liners, despite the loss of half a dozen of the leading players from the year before, won all but one game, conquering the favored Johns Hopkins twelve, 8 to 6, and Navy, 8 to 1, in its final two games of the season.

The lone loss was to St John's of Annapolis, which boasted a veteran team, but this defeat, by a 3 to 2 score, came after Ed. Ronkin, who was a main cog of the Old Line attack, was forced out of the game and for the season with a broken leg in the first three minutes of play. His loss was keenly felt, as much of the attack had been built around him, and this sudden setback robbed Maryland of much power, particularly for the St. John's clash.

The Varsity ball team also overcame all kinds of difficulties to make a great showing by winning 11 of 17 games in its regular campaign. It was a remarkable achievement in view of the general strength of the squad, as experienced men were lacking in several places and the pitching power at the outset was vested in only one man, Harry Milburn, a senior. He came through in fine style and was joined in his winning form by Bill McIlwee, a southpaw sophomore, whose sudden rise was a telling factor in the rather unexpected fine record of the nine.

Considering the circumstances, it was not expected at the outset that the team would win more than 50 per cent of its tilts at the best.

Cross country, track and tennis teams also did some fine work, although the last two mentioned sports were the only ones not to come out on the right side of the ledger for the year. It simply was a case of the material not being there to cope with the strenuous opposition.

Leading the freshman teams were the basketers, who won all of their 11 games, and the diamonders, who won all but one of a same number.

May-Day Ceremonies Colorful

The May-Day festivities promoted by the junior co-ed in honor of the senior co-eds were held on May 6 with the Gerneaux Green for the setting. Miss Helen Meade, of College Park, was crowned "Queen of the May."

Pioneer Of Sports At Alumni Reunion

Clifton B. Fuller, '96, Played On First Teams Supported At College Park

Clifton B. Fuller, '96, of Cumberland, Md., who entered the Maryland Agricultural College, now the College Park Schools of the University of Maryland, in 1892, and who has the honor of being one of the early day Old Line athletes, was on hand for the Grand Reunion on June 6.

Fuller, who pursued a scientific course in agriculture, was a halfback in the first football game the Old Liners ever played away from College Park. This was with Episcopal High School at Alexandria, Va., in the fall of 1892. During the same season Georgetown was defeated 6 to 0.

In the spring of 1893 Fuller was an outfielder on the first baseball team at College Park which was organized by the M. A. C. Athletic Association. Prof. Strickler was the first director of the association, played on the nine and coached both baseball and football for three consecutive years. The colors at that time were maroon and pearl.

At that time the college enrollment totalled about 150 students under the guidance of Captain R. W. Sylvester.

In the early days, the institution was strictly a military college and the company drilling competition was the event of the year. In 1895, Fuller had the honor of being first sergeant in Company C, which won the much prized silk flag. W. B. Crapster, '95, was captain of the company.

In 1893, Fuller shared the honor with Dr. A. C. Hearn, '96, of Baltimore, Md., of being the organizers of the Y. M. C. A. at Maryland. Early meetings were held in their rooms on Sunday evenings, but membership grew so large that it was necessary to hold subsequent sessions in the college chapel.

He would like to hear from any of his old schoolmates. His address is 624 Elm Street, Cumberland, Md.

Phi Kappa Phi Elects 31

The Phi Kappa Phi, national honorary society, that elects only those students who have attained a high scholastic average in their college courses, elected thirty-one graduates of the '31 Class. Several of those elected were graduate students who were receiving advanced degrees. Two alumni were among the newly elected members: Wm. C. Supplee, '25, and L. P. Ditman, '26, each received a Ph. D. degree.

Yost, Of Michigan, Speaks To "M" Men

Fielding H. Yost, of Michigan, gave the principal address at the Annual Varsity "M" Dinner held on May 19 in the University Dining-Hall, at which time some 70-odd athletes and managers received 92 letters for participation in Varsity athletics during the year 1930-31.

"Athletes must give to gain," said Yost, "for this thing we call college athletics has in it wonderful values, but you men who take part in college athletics must get out those values. No man ever acquired strength and stamina to fight a real battle in the game of life by sitting on a sofa and pushing an electric button for what he wants."

Dr. R. A. Pearson, president of the University, made the only other talk of the evening, a brief address of welcome in which he outlined the increasing facilities under construction for athletics at Maryland. H. C. "Curley" Byrd, director of athletics and assistant to the president, introduced Mr. Yost. Prof. C. S. Richardson was toastmaster. The University's Little Symphony Orchestra furnished the music for the occasion.

Former President H. C. Whiteford, '01, of the Alumni Association, received a telegram from the distant but enthusiastic alumnus, A. T. Schenck, '06, Seattle, Washington, that read like this:—"Good luck to all. Sorry to miss Home-Coming. This slogan tells a lot. 'Maryland grows rich with Ritchie'."

Alumni For More Than 50 Years

Alumni, other than Senator Frank C. Norwood, '74, who have passed the 50th graduation anniversary, were J. F. B. Hyde, '75, of Baltimore, Md., John B. Gray, '75, of Prince Frederick, where he and his son, also a graduate of Maryland, are engaged in the practice of law, and C. J. Fletcher, '75, now librarian at the Washington Cathedral. Gray has seen three of his sons graduate from Maryland; J. B. Gray, Jr., '14, is president of the University of Maryland's "M" Club.

Dr. Edwin K. Morgan, '21, formerly of Washington and now a prominent physician in New York, took to the air in order to be present for the convening of the 40th Annual Alumni Meeting and the Grand Reunion held here on June 6. Dr. Morgan, better known as "Eddie," is planning a trip to Europe this coming fall—by boat, not by air. "Eddie" has the distinction of being the only alumnus who came to the Reunion by plane.

Rakeman, '18, Receives Degree

F. B. Rakeman, after thirteen years, received his M. E. degree in Engineering at the Commencement exercises, June 9. He was prevented from receiving it with his class in 1918 by his entering the Army Service School, at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, to become a Lieutenant in the U. S. Cavalry. Rakeman is now manager of the industrial department of the Associated Gas & Electric System of New York.

THE SUMMER SCHOOL session began June 21, last with largest enrollment ever experienced. More than 900 students enrolled for the summer courses which was an increase of nearly 200 more than last year. The majority of the summer-school students are teachers and principals of the elementary and high schools of this State as well as many from our neighboring State of Virginia.

Many Activities

Among the activities of importance that have been held during the summer session were the president's reception and musical held in the Ritchie Gymnasium, June 26, the Boston Male Choir on July 8, a Crayon talk on "National Political Cartooning" by C. K. Berryman, cartoonist for the Washington Star, and an illus-

Poultry Disease Discovery

Made By Roy Dearstyne, '17

Roy S. Dearstyne, '17, a member of the faculty in the poultry department at North Carolina State College, is the discoverer of short interval blood-tests that will reduce poultry losses from Pullorum disease, commonly known as Bacillary White Diarrhea.

Since 1913 the subject has been a source of controversy as to its effectiveness in determining carrier birds of the disease.

Dr. R. Y. Winters said this about

Dearstyne's discovery, "The application of Mr. Dearstyne's results in North Carolina poultry industry will save poultrymen each year more than the total cost of all poultry research conducted here during the past 20 years."

"Roy," who hails from Port Chester, New York, graduated with the class of '17 in agriculture. He was a very active student in college affairs and now is an enthusiastic alumnus. Since graduation he has been engaged in public health service in Baltimore City and in North Carolina, also in the poultry disease work of North Carolina. His services have been, in all cases, highly commendable.

trated lecture, "In Coldest Africa" by Carveth Wells, an English explorer.

The usual summer baseball conflicts between the Western and Eastern Shore are being held, under the direction of Dr. Leroy Mackert, '21, professor of physical education at the University. The Western Shore seems to be holding on to the championship won last year.

Fifty Alumni Attend

Many former students of the University registered for the summer courses, some seeking advanced degrees, others to improve their profession of teaching. There are more than 50 alumni in the summer school. The session will close August 7.

Bill." He served as a scout in campaigns against both the Ute and Sioux Indians.

In the summer of 1876, Thomas rode westward with the army of General Terry in Sheridan's campaign against Sitting Bull. He was attached to the Seventh Cavalry, commanded by Custer. On June 24, a force of Indians was located on the west bank of the Little Big Horn River and Custer divided his men in the hope of trapping them.

Thomas, with three companies commanded by Major Reno, attacked the Indians, but the troopers were repulsed and driven across the river to a shelter of a protecting bluff. Meanwhile, Custer and his men had been surrounded and massacred. Two days later, with the rest of Reno's men, he helped bury Custer's dead. Thomas used to recall how, as an Indian fighter in war times and a buffalo hunter in times of peace, he became an expert rifleman. After he returned East to make his home in Baltimore, he retained a lively interest in hunting, and at the time of his death was treasurer of the Ridgewood Rod and Gun Club.

He is survived by two sons, William L. and Rowland S.; two daughters, Mrs. John D. Bruckner and Mrs. Morgan, and a brother, William Linthicum Thomas, all of Baltimore. His wife, who was formerly Miss May Carson, died four years ago.

Interment was made in the Loudon Park Cemetery of Baltimore County.

OLD LINE ATHLETIC ACTIVITIES

By W. H. ("Bill") HOTTEL

No Change Likely In Athletic Staff

Fenwick, Uncertain For Time, Now Appears Sure To Remain As Grid Assistant

It is unlikely that any change will be made in the athletic staff at Maryland for the 1931-32 term.

For a time it appeared that Charlie Fenwick, who has been line coach and first aide to Curley Byrd for the past three seasons, would not be back on the job, but it now looks as if he would be able to so arrange business matters as to return in the fall.

Fenwick is associated with his father in the patent law business in Washington and the demands upon his time are such that it has been difficult for him to absent himself from his office. However, Fenwick is such a lover of football that he really takes the grid season for his vacation and he is reluctant to give up his association with it.

At one time Fenwick had about decided that he would have to quit coaching, but he now thinks that he can so arrange his business affairs as to remain with the Old Liners.

If Fenwick returns, the Maryland staff will remain intact, the others being as follows:

H. Burton Shipley, head coach of basket-ball and baseball and assistant in football.

John E. Faber, head coach of lacrosse and freshman football and basket-ball.

Geary Eppley, head coach of track and cross country, both varsity and freshman.

Earl Zulick, assistant in football.

Ivan Marty, assistant in lacrosse as chief defense coach.

Al Heagy, assistant in lacrosse.

R. M. Watkins, freshman baseball.

All are former Maryland athletes except Fenwick, and only he, Zulick, Marty, and Smith are not members of the Old Line faculty. Marty is a dairyman at Cockeysville, Md., and Smith and Zulick are in business in Washington, D. C., and Hyattsville, Md., respectively.

Byrd, as is known, also is athletic director, with his main job being assistant to the president of the University.

Alumni Receive Ph. D. Degrees

When the graduating exercises were held at College Park on June 9, three alumni received their Doctor of Philosophy degrees from their Alma Mater. They were Wm. C. Supplee, '26, an outstanding athlete who was a three-letter man in football, basket-ball, and track. A. K. Besley, '23, another prominent athlete in football and baseball, and Lewis P. Dittman, '26, in the department of entomology.

Dr. Charles Leroy Mackert

Hugh S. Koehler, '13 Former Athlete, Dies

Hugh S. Koehler, '13, died from a heart attack, suffered while playing golf on the Truxton Manor Golf course at Norfolk, Va., May 29, 1931. At the time of his death he was assistant manager of Swift & Company, fertilizer plant at Norfolk. He had been in the employ of Swift & Company for 12 years.

Koehler, better known by his schoolmates as "Pop," graduated with a B. S. degree in animal husbandry from the Maryland Agriculture College with the class of 1913. For four years, "Pop" was a main stay of the football team, playing the pivot position. He played center on the first football team "Curley" Byrd coached at Maryland. However, not only in athletics was he active, but, as his classmates put it "Pop" held every office from deckhand to cadet major and handled each with the same dexterity. "Pop" was that type of individual whose friendship was held in the highest esteem by his fellow men.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Grace C. Koehler; his wife, Mrs. Constance M. Koehler; two sisters, Mrs. Eker, of Shippensburg, and Miss Alice Koehler, of New York City. He was a member of the First Christian Church of Philadelphia and the Masonic fraternity of Centreville, Md. Interment was made at Sudlersville, Md., the former home of his wife.

Mackert To Direct Physical Education

Maryland Graduate Who Got Ph. D.
At Columbia U. Will Take Charge In Fall

Charles Leroy Mackert, of the class of 1921, more familiarly known as "Mack," will become professor of physical education at Maryland when the fall term opens on September 16.

Mackert, who received his A. B. and M. S. at Maryland, and who was awarded his Ph. D. in physical education at Columbia University in 1930, headed the department of physical education at Lebanon Valley College, at Annville, Pa., during the 1930-31 term.

He is the first Maryland graduate to ever receive a doctor's degree in physical education.

With the advent of Mackert as a regular member of the faculty of the College of Education, Maryland will formulate plans for a program for physical recreation for all. This plan has been in mind for some time and much already has been done toward putting it in force.

Mackert at present is in charge of the physical education department of the Summer School at Maryland.

While a student at Maryland, Mackert was one of the Old Liners' outstanding football players, as a full-back and tackle, and was considered good enough to be on the all-time team as an occupant of either position. While working for his master's degree at Maryland, he coached the Old Line freshman teams and aided in tutoring the linemen of the Varsity squad.

He is a native of Pennsylvania.

Class Secretaries Report Proceedings

1910 Takes Lead In Adopting Most Extensive Program. Classes
'23-'24 Follow Close

A COMPLETE accounting for all class meetings held on the day of the Grand Reunion cannot as yet be given. However, several class secretaries or class presidents have made reports that show the development of interest and enthusiasm in the Alumni Association and its purpose.

Major O. H. Saunders, '10, duly elected secretary of his class, gave a report in a very interesting and unique manner. It was in the nature of a letter to his classmates, reviewing the day and its happenings in a humorous and most entertaining manner. Congressman W. P. Cole was elected president of the class, and two important procedures were inaugurated. The first one was for the purpose of continuing the good fellowship that prevails. It was decided that each member of the class should take his turn in writing a monthly letter to the entire class. The other was that the class would endeavor to raise $250 each year for the next four years so that on their twenty-fifth anniversary in 1935, $1,000 would be available for presentation to the Alumni Fund. Also the compiling and printing of a "then and now" book for the twenty-fifth anniversary was proposed and adopted.

The classes of 1923 and 1924 are also undertaking an important movement under the leadership of "Bunt" Watkins and "Charley" White, of '23, and Sarah Morris, Aubrey St. Clair Wardwell, Ralph Chase, and Russell Rothgeb, of '24. It was proposed and adopted that an endeavor would be made to secure and print in the form of a condensed year-book the bibliography and activities of the individual class members while they were in college. This movement was brought about by the fact that a year-book was not published in 1923 and 1924, and consequently there are not any class or student-activity records for these two classes assembled.

Other classes which have reported are 1911, under the leadership of Joseph W. Kinghorne; 1907, under the guidance of John P. Mudd and C. H. Harper who are inaugurating plans

Dr. Frank Bomberger, '94, Resigns From University

Dr. Frank B. Bomberger, '94, has resigned as assistant director of the Extension Service of the University of Maryland and specialist in Cooperative Marketing, to devote his full time to the work as assistant chief of the Division of Cooperative Marketing of the Federal Farm Board. Dr. Bomberger was appointed as a part-time official by special arrangement between the Extension Service and the Federal Farm Board to assist in directing the organization of Cooperative Marketing. This was for a period of one year, but it is now seen that his services will extend for an indefinite period and require full time which carries him to all parts of the United States.

The University regrets the loss of such an active, diligent, and valuable contributor to the University's welfare, but rejoices in the fact that one of her sons has been called to render service to the country at large.

Dr. Bomberger was connected with the institution for more than 35 years during which time he has served in many important capacities and has

Dr. C. F. Russell, '67, Dies At Age Of 92

Was Civil War Veteran, Having Served
In Confederate Cavalry In 1861.

A Physician For 65 Years

DR. Charles F. Russell, '67, a graduate of the Medical School, died July 16, 1931, while being taken from his home in Herndon, Va., to that of his son-in-law in Chevy Chase, Md. Dr. Russell, 92 years old, and one of the best known old-time doctors in Virginia, was loved, admired, and respected by all who knew him. He was a Civil War veteran, having served in the cavalry division of the Confederate Army in 1861, as a private. He was an eye witness to the John Brown raid on the arsenal at Harper's Ferry.

At the time of his enlistment he was a student at the University of Virginia, but, following the war, he took up his medical studies at the old school of Physicians and Surgeons, now the Medical School of the University, graduating in 1867. Following graduation he practiced medicine at Hillsboro, Va; Graceham, Md.; Sharpsburg, Md., and later at Herndon, Va.—covering 64 years in all. He was a member of the Medical Societies of Northern Virginia and the District of Columbia, as well as an active Mason—all of this making him widely known.

In the winter of 1930 Dr. Russell attended and gave a brief talk at a "get-together" of the Old Line Club, the Washington organization of Maryland alumni. At the time of his death he was adjutant of Marr Camp, Confederate veterans of Fairfax Court House, Va.

Dr. Russell is survived by a son, Charles Russell, of Oregon, and two daughters, Miss Margaret B. Russell, and Mrs. W. T. Pollard, both of Chevy Chase, Md. Interment was made in the Fairfax Cemetery of Virginia.

University Library Offers

Service To Former Students

Especially to the former students of the University who do not have the resources of a library nearby, the University Library is glad to lend non-fiction books when they are not in active use on the campus.

One or two books can be sent for a period of two weeks, the borrower to pay for their return by parcel post insured. On request an extension of the time can be granted, if the books can still be spared. Fiction may not well be included for lending, because of the demands made by students on the relatively small collection. But there are many books in biography, travel, history, sociology, science, the useful arts, poetry, etc., from which to choose, and our Reference Librarian will be glad to select a book for you, or to make short lists of our best books on various subjects for those who wish them. For technical subjects, I think members of the faculty would cooperate in listing good books for those who would like to continue their university education in this way.

We shall be most happy to be of service to our alumni.

Cordially yours,

GRACE BARNES,
Librarian.

Margaret "Peggy" McGarvey, '31, the present secretary to our assistant alumni secretary, has accepted a teaching position in Surratsville High School. "Peggy" was quite active in athletics during her college career, having played on the basket-ball, soccer, hockey, tennis, and bowling teams and held the positions of manager of hockey and captain of basket-ball.

George B. Morse, '13, visits the campus and expressed the hope that many of his classmates would drop him a line. Morse gives a résumé of his life since leaving Maryland. After graduation he went west, as did V. K. "Socks" White, '12, as a representative of Studebaker Motor Company. While there Morse met and married Miss Fritz White, of Cheyenne, Wyoming. When war was declared, he immediately enlisted and was commissioned a 2nd lieutenant in the 15th U. S. Cavalry and sent to France where he spent 16 months. Following his return from France, he located in Cheyenne for one year and his experiences are worth hearing. In 1920 he became connected with the Pacific Cotton Mills of Chicago, and has been employed by that company ever since. Morse is an active member of the Officers' Reserve Corps and has the rank of Major.

been a prominent figure in its development.

He also played an important part in the organizing of the Cooperative Marketing Association in Maryland. Following his graduation from the old Maryland Agricultural College in 1894, now the College Park branch of the University, he was made assistant chemist and his connections with the institution have been practically continuous ever since. For many years he has been a member of the University's Athletic Board.

His son, Lawrence J. Bomberger, is also a graduate of the University in the class of '29, and is now located in Milton, W. Va.

Dr. Bomberger's home is in College Park adjacent to the campus.

for a greater class reunion in 1932. Class 1913 was represented by H. P. Ames, and 1926 by W. H. Evans, president, and Dorothy Young, secretary.

All say that congenial and enjoyable get-togethers were had and old times as well as new experiences were reviewed most fluently.

OLD LINE ATHLETIC ACTIVITIES

By W. H. ("Bill") HOTTEL

Maryland Is Due To Have Veteran Football Team This Fall; Game With Navy On October 10 Attracting Much Attention

Maryland will have a veteran football eleven this fall unless some of the hopefuls who come up from last year's freshman squad break into the varsity lineup. One or two may, but the chances are not so bright for the sophomores.

Fourteen of the 18 letter-men are to gather at College Park for the start of practice Labor Day and just two of those who will be missing figured to any extent in Maryland's battling during the 1930 campaign.

Bill Evans, clever back, and Bill Fisher, regular tackle, are the main losses. John Pitzer, back, and Joe Deckman, lineman, also were in the 1931 graduating class, but they were not so prominent last fall.

Al Pease and Jack Norris, ends; Pat Rooney and Bill Wood, wing reserves; Ernie Carliss, tackle; Ted Keenan, reserve tackle; Jess Krajcovic and Courtney Hayden, guards; Ray Koelle, reserve guard; Skippy Faber, center; Shorty Chalmers, Bozey Berger, Al Woods and Ray Poppelman, backs, are the letter-men due to perform again.

John Mitchell, center; Tom Duley, Joe Sanford, Harry Ferguson, Jim Loughran, Herman Feldman and George Cole, linemen; Paul Kiernan, Charlie May, Charlie Miller, Paul Cronin, and Joe Settino, backs, are reserves from last year who should be helpful.

John Mayhew and Rufus Vincent, tackles; Howard Shinn and John Clark, guards; Willard Piggott and John Simpson, centers; Willis Benner, Alton Buscher, Charles Rittenhouse, and Wilbur Wright, ends, and Norwood Sothoron, Francis Knott, Robert Snyder, and Frank Hawkins, backs, are the leading prospects from the 1930 yearlings.

The Old Liners will have a fairly tall and rangy, though not hefty, team. Carliss will be the only player to go as high as 195, the line being made up of men who range from 170 to around 185 pounds.

Maryland's schedule, which is given below, is very attractive. One of the high spots, the game with Navy, will come early in the campaign. It will be played October 10 in Griffith Stadium, home of the Washington ball club, and the demand for tickets already is heavy.

The Old Liners will not have a game on November 14 this year. They had been listed to play that day with Washington and Lee and to be idle the following Saturday, which precedes the Thanksgiving clash with Hopkins. However, Washington and Lee asked for a shift to the 21st in order that it might play Princeton on the 14th and Curley Byrd accommodated the Generals.

For the first time in the history of football at Maryland, the Old Liners have arranged a schedule of three games for the "B" squad. All will be played at College Park, as follows: October 17—Catholic University Freshmen. October 31—Georgetown University Freshmen. November 7—Western Maryland Freshmen.

The usual five games also have been arranged for the Old Line yearling squad as follows:

October 23—Virginia Freshmen at College Park.
October 31—Virginia Military Institute Freshmen at Lexington, Va.
November 6—Washington and Lee Freshmen at Lexington, Va.
November 14—St. John's College Freshmen at College Park.
November 25—Navy "B" team at Annapolis.

NEW FIELD HOUSE FOR WOMEN THAT HAS BEEN COMPLETED

Football Squad Has Begun Grind

Problems Faced Despite Return Of Ten 1930 Regulars—Game With
Navy Is High Spot

MARYLAND'S football players have begun the grind for the 1931 campaign that promises plenty of keen competition and thrills before the ten-game schedule is completed.

And while Curley Byrd and his associates have ten of last year's regulars as the nucleus of the eleven, there are some problems that will have to be solved if the season is to be highly successful.

One tackle berth is left open from the 1930 eleven and filling that and finding line reserves are the tasks that confront the Old Liners. A team is said to be as strong as its reserves and Maryland will be hard put to it to go through its stiff list of games unless some understudies for the forward wall are developed. And the material from which they must come is none too experienced.

With ten backs in all left from last year, four of them regulars, the ball-toting situation is much brighter.

Class of '29 Donates Picture To New Library

The class of '29 has the distinction of being the first class to make a contribution to the New Library. A balance which was left in the class treasury at the time of graduation was given to Miss Barnes, librarian, to purchase a suitable picture for the new library. The picture secured was that of Sir Galahad, a famous knight of the Round Table, as he was setting forth on his quest of the Holy Grail. On Alumni Day the class viewed the picture immediately after lunch and then convened to their annual class meeting when a very constructive program was inaugurated. The outstanding feature of the meeting was proposing and adopting a plan to establish a class fund for the purpose of keeping in closer contact the members of the class.

Dinty Koons, president, will gratefully appreciate any comments, suggestions, and contributions for the class fund. His address is 419 4th Street, N. E., Washington, D. C.

Sessions For '31-'32 Began Sept. 15th

Registration Equals That Of Last Year, Girls' Field House Ready.

Byrd Begins Twentieth Year

THE UNIVERSITY began the 1931-32 session with an enrollment approximately the same in number as last year. The Baltimore Schools which can accommodate only a limited number of students did not experience any difference in this year's registration. The College Park Schools, although not having a decrease in the number of students enrolled, did notice that the usual yearly increase over the previous year was not received for this session.

The building construction at College Park continues with rapid progress and the new girls' Field House, one of the five buildings started this spring, was completed for the opening of school. The new girls' Dormitory will not be ready for use until about the last of November. In the meantime the girls' Field House will be adequately equipped to serve as a dormitory until that time. The Horticulture and Engineering Building are pro-

"Hey!" cried Satan to the new arrival, "You act as though you owned this dump."

"I do! My wife gave it to me."

G. W. Cairnes, '03, Writes

From The Mediterranean

Commander G. W. Cairnes, '03, of the U. S. Coast Guard, expresses the good feeling, interest and enthusiasm in his Alma Mater by writing the alumni office from Marseilles, France. "We have visited Gibraltar, Egypt, Constantinople, Black Sea (where all hands filled their fountain pens) and arrived in Marseilles today where I found your letter and the June ALUMNI NEWS. You might pass the word to those who have not been in these parts that what Mark Twain said of the Atlantic is equally true of the Mediterranean. My one regret is that I was unable to attend the Grand Reunion where I would have seen Peach, '03, and Collier, '03, for the first time since our graduation, as well as many more of my old friends. Sincerely, G. W. Cairnes."

The ALUMNI NEWS was pleased to receive this note and have the opportunity to pass on the excerpts of his letter to the Association.

Cairnes is with the Coast Guard Practice Squadron which has been cruising in the Mediterranean.

The Point Breeze plant of the Western Electric Company has several Maryland graduates in its employ. The first to be connected with the Company was Howard Victor "Vic" Keen, '22, a former star twirler on the diamond for Maryland, later to become a major leaguer and a participant in a world series when the St. Louis Cardinals won the championship. Keen is General Chairman of the Athletic Board for the Company.

Roger Whiteford, '27, the fleet track man from Maryland, is chairman of the Annual Track and Field Meet of the Point Breeze Club of the Company, to be held this fall.

Robert Brubaker, '28, is in the Chemistry Department. Douglas Smink, '29, is in the Engineering Manufacturing Department, and W. L. Hopkins, '30, belongs to the Accounting Division. The latter recently visited the campus, as did "Vic" Keen.

gressing rapidly and are expected to be ready by the latter part of the fall.

The Varsity Field House, which has not fared as well as the others, is now gaining headway and will be ready in time for the basket-ball season.

Curley Byrd began his twentieth year as football coach and director of athletics at his Alma Mater on Labor Day, when the gridiron warriors gathered to prepare for the 1931 season.

During the opening week of registration and school several interesting events occupied the time for the new students. The first evening, Tuesday, September 15, a motion picture was shown for the entertainment of the freshmen and on the following evening, President and Mrs. R. A. Pearson gave a reception to the freshman class in the Ritchie gymnasium. The old students' registration, some of which was done before school closed last spring, was completed on Thursday, the 17th, and that evening a general assembly of all students was called by Claude Smith, president of the Student Government. The following morning, classes started,

Here the big task is picking the right man to call the signals.

Washington College will furnish the opener on September 26. Then it is one hard game after another until the season becomes history.

Virginia, at College Park, on October 3, offers the first real test, and then the classic of the South Atlantic section will be staged. In this tilt, the Old Liners will clash with Navy in Griffith Stadium, Washington, and a record crowd for a grid game in the Capital City is anticipated.

It would be best to apply at once for tickets for this game as the application list was heavy before the end of August. All grandstand tickets are $3.00, with the boxes at $4.00, and applications must be accompanied by check with 17 cents extra if a registered return is desired.

It will be first come, first served.

Navy's entire corps of midshipmen will witness the game and the bands and organized cheering will give a colorful setting for what promises to be a great grid battle.

ROLL CALL

Have you answered?

The roll call asking for the usual splendid financial response of the alumni to the association was sent out about July 1. Immediately following the call many responses were received while the thought was fresh in the minds of the alumni, but as time went on and procrastination overtook many, the splendid returns grew less. It is not believed that any alumnus does not want to respond, as everyone knows that the progress of the association and the institution is of mutual benefit to all.

The NEWS has served as a barometer for the roll call by printing in each issue, beginning with July, the names of all those who have responded before each issue goes to press. The July issue needed two columns to print the names of those who answered. The August issue was the same, but the September issue had only one column and this issue, well, you can see for yourself. Has your name appeared in this column before? If so, you can boast of the fact that you have answered your alma mater's call. If not, wouldn't you like to? Sure you would. Then don't delay, but respond today.

Traditions, Main Topic

At Alumni Board Meeting

The regular fall meeting of the Alumni Board was held Oct. 10, at the Raleigh Hotel, in Washington, D. C. Millard E. Tydings, president of the association, presided. The following members were present: John P. Mudd, '07, vice-president; T. B. Symons, '02, secretary-treasurer; M. M. Clark, '22; Wellstood White, '05; D. J. Howard, '17; Mrs. Elizabeth Hook Day, '20; J. Hanson Mitchell, '98, and G. F. Pollock, '23.

President Tydings presented the first topic for discussion, which was a proposal for the alumni to establish something at College Park which will ultimately have a strong tradition. This, it is believed, will do much toward cultivating more enthusiasm among the students and alumni. Full details about the proposal will be presented in a subsequent issue.

According to the motion made and passed at the annual alumni meeting last June, the Alumni Day in 1932 will be Saturday, June 5. The discussion on the Alumni Fund resulted in a proposal, that it be made a class proposition and each class be encouraged to raise, by voluntary contributions, a class fund to be given to the Alumni Fund as a class contribution.

Group organizations were discussed and the board desires each organized group to have at least one meeting a year and groups be organized where none exist at the present.

The recommendation bureau of the association, more women representation on the Alumni Board, the ALUMNI NEWS, the budget for 1931-32, and the appeal for more paid up memberships, were other subjects to receive earnest discussion.

The board voted to have the next meeting in January at College Park.

NAVY ELEVEN SUNK

BY MARYLAND, 6-0

Something like 20,000 persons, including many Maryland alumni, saw one of the best football games ever staged on any field and at the same time one of the most colorful of gridiron spectacles. It was a game and a show that would have done credit to a crowd of five times the proportions that witnessed it.

Every writer who penned a piece about the game praised it from every standpoint. Both teams played a high brand of football, the type that puts a premium on the physical as well as the mental, and it was just one target that hit Navy amidsthips that gave the Old Liners the victory.

Touchdown Is Thriller

Maryland's touchdown came like a bolt of lightning out of a clear sky. Courtney Hayden, Maryland guard, grabbed a Navy fumble near midfield about midway of the third period to give the Old Liners a "break." Woods got a couple yards to put the ball exactly in the center of the gridiron. And then came the play that had so many wrinkles that Navy and most of the spectators were not able to follow the ball.

Skip Faber shot the ball back from center to Ray Poppelman, then Paul Kiernan took possession of it, only to hand it to Shorty Chalmers. It was too hot for Chalmers to hold so he sent it 30 yards down the field to Al Pease who traveled 20 more to tote it across the goal.

Pull Tricky Stuff

To be more explicit and to state it in football terms, it was a forward pass after a triple pass and a double reverse. Just as clear as mud, but the ex-football players, at least, will understand what it is all about. And all will understand that six points beat nothing.

It was Maryland's first triumph over the Midshipmen in football and, although there have been a number of games between the two over a number of years, the grid relations really only began with the 6 to 0 win Navy scored at Annapolis last fall. In the games prior to that time Navy was so vastly superior in strength and numbers to Maryland that they were not comparable.

Statistics show that Maryland earned its triumph, as the Old Liners had a shade on the Middies in every angle, the slim margin by which Navy won in 1930 being about just reversed.

Brings Much Prestige

It was a victory that gave Maryland a lot of prestige and one that was begrudged in no way by those back of Navy athletics, as their sportsmanlike attitude was so pronounced as to make the Old Liners almost ashamed that they had won the game.

Maryland started the game as follows:

Al Pease, left end; Ernie Carliss, left tackle; Courtney Hayden, left guard; John Mitchell, center; Jess Krajcovic, right guard; Ted Keenan, right tackle; Jack Norris, right end; Al Woods, quarterback; Shorty Chalmers, left halfback; Bozey Berger, right halfback; Ray Poppelman, fullback.

Substitutions were: Skip Faber for Mitchell, May for Poppelman, Settino for May, Kiernan for Berger.

MARYLAND RALLIES TO DEFEAT VIRGINIA, 7-6

Maryland by a last-quarter rally came from behind to defeat Virginia by the lone point after touchdown. The game had many thrills. Thomas, of Virginia, provided the first by trotting 60 yards on the kick off to Maryland's 20-yard line. Maryland took the ball on downs. But during the second period, Virginia recovered a fumble deep in Maryland territory and taking advantage of the situation uncorked a forward pass which netted a touchdown. The half ending, Virginia 6, Maryland 0.

The fourth quarter rally provided the thrill for the football fans and brought victory to Maryland. With five minutes left to play, Maryland started a march from midfield by a series of brilliant runs and line bucks to score a touchdown; the point after touchdown being the winning point. By the victory, Maryland retains possession of the Tydings Trophy given annually to the winner of this game by United States Senator Milard E. Tydings, of the class of '10.

He was born June 8, 1871, at Mount Washington, Md., and was educated in the public schools at Maryland Agricultural College, now the College Park Schools of the University, and at the American Veterinary College of New York, from which he graduated in 1896. After practicing veterinary medicine for two years he entered the Bureau of Animal Industry, as assistant inspector in the meat-inspection service at Kansas City. In 1900 he was assigned to the laboratory of the pathological division in Washington, D. C., where he rose to the position of chief of the division in 1919. Under his direction, the division, which consists of 28 highly trained technical workers, has made important contributions to knowledge of animal diseases and methods of control. with their old college cronies about the days of yore.

The Home-coming this year is expected to be the largest ever held at College Park. Elaborate preparations are going forward to arrange the best program possible. The football game is the feature of the day, to be followed by the highly enjoyable supper dance which was such a huge success last year. Some of the comments about the supper dance given by many of the alumni last year, are as follows: "The best day I ever spent at College Park"; "A most fitting climax for a Home-coming Day"; "An ideal opportunity to spend an enjoyable evening visiting with old friends."

The program for the day begins with the annual "M" Club luncheon followed by a business meeting. The varsity football game starts at 2:30 in the Byrd stadium and the supper dance begins one hour after the close of the game. Following the supper, the annual Home-coming Hop will begin at 9 P. M.

Tickets for the game and dance can be secured by writing the Alumni Office, College Park.

Maryland Harriers Score

Maryland's cross-country teams chalked up two consecutive wins when the varsity and freshman harriers defeated St. John's College of Annapolis. They previously defeated Catholic University. The freshmen cleaned up the yearling grind of three and a quarter miles with St. John's in fine style. Six of the yearling runners crossed the finish line ahead of any Johnny runner.

Of this number, 1005 came from the State of Maryland and 533 from the District of Columbia. The out-of-state students make up the remaining number of 189, with our neighboring state, Pennsylvania, leading with 30 entrants.

DON'T MISS HOME-COMING!

M. E. Tydings, '10

Millard E. Tydings, '10, president of the Alumni Association, is a strong believer in "Whoop It Up" for the boys on the field. He feels that every alumnus should make an earnest effort to return for Home-coming, and show the boys they can yell.

J. B. Gray, Jr., '14, president of the "M" Club, strongly urges alumni "M" Club members to return for the annual meeting.

On this day the "M" Club will be host to the All-Time Maryland athletes, and every member of the club should plan to be present.

J. B. Gray, '14

Generals To Visit On Home-coming Day

Old Liners, and until 1928 the Washington and Lee team had been a real jinx to Maryland, winning the first four games.

Finally Break Ice

However, the Old Liners broke the ice in 1928 when "Snitz" Snyder was the battering ram in getting the lone touch-down of the game, and last fall Maryland, with everything it did going right and everything that Washington and Lee tried going wrong, won by the one-sided score of 41 to 7. All of the previous games had been hard fought, close, and extremely interesting.

Washington and Lee with Jimmy DeHart, who was on hand when the Generals were making their mark on the gridiron, back as coach have a much better team than that which visited College Park last fall and the game this year should return to the type of battles that prevailed prior to 1930.

The game was originally scheduled for November 14, but was placed a week later to allow Washington and Lee to accept an offer to play Princeton on the earlier date. As a consequence the Old Liners will be idle on November 14 instead of the 21st as was intended. This will result in Maryland playing Washington and Lee, Johns Hopkins, and Western Maryland within a scope of two weeks, the tilt with the Blue Jays following five days after the clash with the Generals.

Should Be Real Foe

Washington and Lee, with DeHart having had time to develop the team along his own lines for most of the season, should be just about at their best when they invade College Park and the contest should offer a real attraction for the returning alumni.

Games between the Generals and Old Liners in the past have resulted as follows:

1924—Washington and Lee, 19; Maryland, 7.
(Central High School Stadium, Wash., D. C.)
1925—Washington and Lee, 7; Maryland, 3.
(College Park, Md.)
1926—Washington and Lee, 3; Maryland, 0.
(Lexington, Va.)
1927—Washington and Lee, 13; Maryland, 6.
(College Park, Md.)
1928—Maryland, 6; Washington and Lee, 0.
(Griffith Stadium, Wash., D. C.)
1929—No game.
1930—Maryland, 41; Washington and Lee, 7.

"M" Club Will Play Host To Athletes Of Past Years

Home-coming Day will find the "M" Club host to the All-Time Maryland athletes of yesteryear. Those athletes to be honored were chosen by a popular vote by the Alumni Association. The "M" Club sponsored the movement which was suggested by James Burns, '11. All sports supported by the University will be represented by a team or by individual records.

These men will be guests of the Athletic Board at the Home-coming football game between Maryland and Washington and Lee. The "M" Club will then fete them at the Home-coming supper dance.

Two Football Teams

In the case of football there will be two teams. This was due to the fact that about 1906 there was such a drastic change in the football rules, bringing into play the forward pass. Therefore, one team was chosen prior to 1906, and another from 1906 to 1930. Only one team has been selected from each of the other sports.

President Pearson To Speak

The "M" Club announces there are some 80 or more athletes who will receive specially engraved certificates at the Home-coming supper dance, honoring them as All-Time Maryland Athletes.

President Raymond A. Pearson will make a short address of welcome and congratulation, after which J. B. Gray, Jr., '14, president of the "M" Club, will present the certificates.

OLD LINE CLUB MEMBERS

There may be a depression in business and many other things, but there should never be any decrease in the good fellowship of Maryland graduates. I hope everyone will make a special effort to be present at the Home-coming, November 21, and I believe we will have a day well worth while.

11 Gridiron Games On 1932 Schedule

Maryland's 11-game football schedule for 1932 includes nine of the ten teams on the 1931 list, the only change being Duke in place of Kentucky, while St. John's of Annapolis has been added.

Maryland and Kentucky had a two-year contract, but owing to a schedule mix-up by the latter, the Old Liners released the Wildcats from their 1932 obligation.

Maryland's schedule, the games being at College Park unless specified, follows:

- September 24—Washington College.
- October 1—Virginia at Charlottesville.
- October 8—Virginia Poly.
- October 15—Duke at Durham.
- October 22—St. John's of Annapolis.
- October 29—V. M. I. at Richmond.

Five Wins, One Tie Mark First Six Tilts

When the Old Line Varsity Grid-ers went into the Vanderbilt game on November 7 at Nashville they had a record of five wins and a tie in six starts.

The victories were over Washington College, 13 to 0; Virginia, 7 to 6; Navy, 6 to 0; V. M. I., 41 to 20, and Virginia Poly, 20 to 0. The tie was a 6 to 6 affair with Kentucky that followed the Navy Clash.

The Washington College game was staged on a soggy field and the play was ragged; the Old Liners fumbled away many chances before marching 60 yards to a touch-down to beat Virginia; the Navy game was won on a forward pass after a triple pass and double reverse from which Shorty Chalmers tossed to Al Pease, end, for 50 yards and the score; a pass that netted about the same distance from Chalmers to Jack Norris, wingman, got the points that deadlocked Kentucky, and brilliant offensive work by the entire backfield, with Poppel-

Dedication Of Co-ed Building December 1

The architect for this building is Major Howard Cutler. On the inside we find a large floor, 60 x 100, of sufficient size for a maximum basketball court. On the north side are dressing rooms containing 15 showers, 180 lockers, and lavatories. On the south side are offices for the director of physical education and the woman physician, seminar rooms for the major students in physical education, and a classroom. This building also contains a kitchenette which will meet a long-felt need for parties on the campus where food can be served.

Recreation Field

At the back of this building a recreation field for girls is in the process of construction. This will contain a hockey field, baseball diamond, volley-ball court, outdoor basket-ball court, and tennis courts. It is a far cry from the early days of 1922 when the first step in girls' athletics was taken in the organization of the girls' rifle team, whose sole equipment consisted of one gun and one rifle coat, to the present facilities for girls at the University.

Dormitory Ready

The first dormitory for women, which will be ready for occupancy by Home-coming Day, was designed by Smith and May who have been the architects for several of the buildings on the campus. The dormitory is of colonial design of the Georgian period and will house 120 girls. It contains ample recreation space, including a large reception room, two small parlors, and a large social hall. Each floor has a kitchenette, running hot and cold water in each bedroom, tubs, showers, etc. The furniture will be of the early American period to correspond with the architecture of the building.

man as leader, piled up the points against V. M. I. and Virginia Poly. The line has played exceptionally fine football in all the games.

Maryland's football success this year is not due to weight but cleverness and heady play. The team, at its heaviest, does not average quite 178 pounds to the man and any substitution cuts down poundage. The squad as a whole averages under 170 pounds. The Old Liners have been out-weighted in every game, except against Washington College and V. M. I., and poundage was about equal in the contest with the latter.

The Old Line freshman team, that apparently contains a number of players of worth, scored over the Virginia yearlings, 19 to 6, and the V. M. I. cubs, 7 to 0, in its first two games.

THE NINTH ANNUAL HOME-COMING DAY, with the All-Star Athletes of yesteryear as honored guests, enjoyed the return of approximately 500 or more alumni, who joined a crowd of 7,000 people to watch the Terrapins and Generals settle their annual football tilt; the Terrapins emerging the victor by the count of 13 to 7.

stopped Maryland as it played against the Terrors.

Ray Poppelman, junior halfback, tore off runs of 31, 49, and 56 yards for touchdowns to have a total of 201 yards to his credit for the day and Bozey Berger ran a kick-off 85 yards for a score, but it was team-play, both on attack and defense, that throttled the Westminster eleven.

Al Pease and Jack Norris, ends; Ernie Carliss, tackle; Courtney Hayden and Jess Krajcovic, guards; Skip Faber, center, and Shorty Chalmers, whose great kicking and passing have won him national fame, and the fleet Berger, will be missing next fall. Poppelman, Al Woods, one of the biggest cogs in the machine, and Ted Keenan, tackle, will be the only starters in the final tilt who will be back.

Maryland, in making its great record, also defeated Navy, its old rival, Johns Hopkins, all the "Big Four" of the Old Dominion—Virginia, V. M. I., Virginia Poly, and Washington and Lee, tied Kentucky and lost only to Vanderbilt.

Poppelman, in running wild in most every game, totalled more than 1,350 yards for the season, thus breaking the record of "Snitz" Snyder, made in 1928, by about 100 yards.

All told, Maryland played 16 football games during the fall, winning 12, tying two, and losing two. The "B" squad won its only game while the Freshmen captured three, tied one, and lost one.

Now that football is over basketball will hold the center of the stage with Burton Shipley and his Southern Conference champions ready to make a bid for more high honors.

Shipley has all of his championship team at hand, along with Pat Rooney, kept out last year by an injury suffered in an auto mishap, and five good men from last season's freshman quint.

Shipley and his tossers are "breaking" the schedule with a tough assignment, as the Old Liners will travel to Madison to play the University of Wisconsin on December 30 with hardly enough time to prep for such a game. Most of the basketballers were on the football squad, so early practice was out of the question. The Badgers, on the other hand, have been drilling almost since the opening of school under the tutelage of Dr. Walter Meanwell, originator of the famous basketball system bearing his name.

Another word about that great football team before we sign off. All-Maryland and all-other teams are being picked at this stage of the year and the Old Liners are getting plenty of consideration. Krajcovic and Chalmers already have received national

The women's field house was dedicated by Dr. Marie M. Ready, director of recreation, United States Bureau of Education; and the new dormitory, Margaret Brent Hall, by Mrs. Charles E. Ellicott, president, State League of Women Voters. Dean of Women Adele Hagner Stamp presided during the ceremonies.

Memorial Fountain

Following the exercises in the auditorium, the Irene Bock Meloy Memorial was dedicated with a ceremony held in front of the memorial, located on the south side of the women's dormitory. The memorial was accepted for the University by Dr. Raymond A. Pearson, president of the University; and Dr. S. M. Shoemaker, chairman of the Board of Regents.

Mrs. Charles E. Ellicott, in dedicating the women's dormitory as Margaret Brent Hall, told a little of the history of Margaret Brent, the first woman to ask for a vote.

Greetings were also brought to the University by officers of the various women's clubs of Maryland.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Smith are the proud parents of a new arrival, named Margaret Therese, weighing 8 pounds, 4 ounces, born November 11, at the Columbia Hospital in Washington, D. C. Mrs. Smith was formerly Miss Ammbowie Watson, of Washington. Mr. Smith is the well-known "Ed" Smith, of the Class of '25, a lacrosse player of considerable note and at present tutor of the yearling lacrossers at his alma mater.

Mr. and Mrs. Geary Eppley, '18, and '25, are the proud parents of another girl, weighing 7 pounds, 3 ounces, born December 4, at the Garfield Hospital in Washington, D. C. But don't forget about the dedication of the handsome new field house for men on January 20. Navy is going to send its basketball team over for the big doings. Governor Ritchie is slated to be present and it sure is going to be a gala occasion. It's worth a trip to College Park just to see that field house, one of the dreams that has come true.

Former Outstanding Athletes Honored On Home-coming Day

to Byrd Stadium for the football game, which was the Home-coming feature.

The Alumni Supper Dance began at 6 P. M. in the Ritchie Gymnasium with about 300 attending. The gymnasium was elaborately decorated in black and gold with gold electric bulbs adding to the effect. Tables were arranged around the edge of the gymnasium in cabaret style with the center open for dancing. The Supper Dance, which was held for the first time last year, has grown very popular, as shown by the increased attendance. Last year about 150 attended, and this year the number was doubled.

Immediately following the Supper Dance, the "M" Club, led by its former president, J. B. Gray, Jr., '14, presented the All-Star Athletes of yesteryear, who were the honored guests of the day, with special engraved certificates indicating that they have been the outstanding performers in athletics at Maryland by a popular vote of the Alumni Association. Some 50 or more athletes were present.

Prof. Richardson Makes Talk

In the unavoidable absence of President Raymond A. Pearson, Professor Charles S. Richardson was requested to extend greetings to the All-Star Athletes. He told the athletes that the University was honoring them because in the past they had brought fame and prestige to the University. He said:

"Gentlemen, when you were starting on some athletic team you were probably at that time unconscious of the fact that you were making a priceless contribution to the welfare and progress of the University of Maryland. Your athletic prowess, your loyalty, and your good sportsmanship had both a physical and spiritual value that cannot be overestimated among the different factors that have helped to make our institution great. The University fully recognizes this, and gladly does honor to you tonight for the splendid contribution you have made."

Professor Richardson also said that while the committee whose duty it was to select the All-Star Athletes knew that every one selected was worthy of the honor, yet the members of the committee found that other men equally worthy had been unintentionally omitted, as the selections had been based upon a rather inadequate vote of the alumni. He further said, however, that the members of the committee had the satisfying consciousness that any student who was big enough really to deserve the honor, and yet was unintentionally omitted from the list, would also be big enough to understand the situation and feel no manner of resentment toward anyone.

At 9 P. M. the Annual Home-coming Dance began with the students joining the alumni to add youth and gaiety to the occasion. The curtain dropped at midnight on the most successful Home-coming Maryland has ever enjoyed.

MARYLAND'S NEW ATHLETIC BUILDING

Athletic Building Will Be Dedicated

Governor Ritchie To Attend, Navy's
Basket-ball Team To Visit

On January 20

DEDICATION exercises for the new athletic building for men, at the University will be held January 20 at College Park. The U. S. Naval Academy basket-ball team will oppose the Old Liners in the athletic feature of the program.

Governor Albert C. Ritchie and many other State leaders, as well as representatives from other institutions, will attend the ceremonies. A very large return of alumni also is expected. In fact, the building is expected to be filled for the dedication.

When this was written, a suitable name for the building was being sought and suggestions were in order. It will be named in honor of Governor Ritchie, but we cannot say just what name will be given the building.

The picture of the building on this page shows the front elevation, which faces the Baltimore-Washington Boulevard and the University campus.

A PLEDGE TO THE ALUMNI

And so, with the tumult and the shouting fast dying away, another Home-coming Day goes down to posterity.

In the echoes of its passing, it is no more than just to award all praise for its success to the officers and members of the Alumni Association. An active and as enthusiastic a group of Maryland supporters as the undergraduates could wish for, they have been behind the University and its projects to a man; in an emergency, appeals to the alumni have never gone unanswered and never will. Perhaps that's what the platform moralists call "spirit."

Graduates come back to us with a light in their eyes. They're not a dull, apathetic company of psalm-singers—when they get into the stands, they make a noise—they put the game next to their hearts just as much as the most rabid of your student spectators.

They like us—these alumni. Rather, let's say, they like Maryland. And we are the living Maryland. Theirs is more of a sibilant whispering, mounting into thunder once a year on days like Home-coming.

Maryland must never die, they tell

Varsity Basketers Lose Stirring Tilt

Wisconsin Evens Score In Last Few Seconds And Then Wins In Extra Period

MARYLAND lost its opening game of basket-ball with the University of Wisconsin at Madison, on December 30, by two seconds and as many points.

The Old Liners were leading, 26 to 24, with the game all but over, when a Wisconsin player took a rebound from a shot a Maryland man barely missed and just as the gun was about to end the tilt, made a long toss that tied the count.

Then the Badgers won out in the extra period, 32 to 30, in spite of two baskets by Shorty Chalmers.

The Old Liners led, 14 to 7, at the end of the first half and, after the Badgers evened the score at 16-all, early in the second period, it was a battle royal to the finish.

Chalmers, Ed Ronkin, Rufus Vincent, Bozie Berger, and Bucky Buscher started for Maryland. Jack Norris, Spencer Chase and Wilbur Wright got

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION:

The progress which the University of Maryland has made during the past 10 years has not just happened. It has been due to concerted effort.

The officers of the Alumni Association wish to make this year a memorable one in the history of the University. Of course, the Alumni Association cannot support them can. Unfortunately, through inadvertence, many of them have not paid their dues, which, though small, are needed to make the Alumni Association a fighting and worth-while adjunct for the furtherance of the interests of the University.

As president, I am asking at this time if every member of the association, whose dues are unpaid, will send them in at once. To do less than this will be to hamper the work of the association and curtail the accomplishments for the year 1931-1932.

Please act now and send your check to Dr. T. B. Symons, Secretary-Treasurer, College Park, Maryland.

With best wishes for the year 1932, I am

Sincerely yours,

MILLARD E. TYDINGS,
President, Alumni Association.

RESPOND TO THE ROLL CALL

NEW YEAR GREETINGS

The officers of the Alumni Association take this occasion to express their sincere appreciation for the good will and loyal cooperation that has been accorded them during the past year, and at the same time extend to members of the association sincere wishes for success and happiness in the New Year.

From Seattle, Washington

From the far corner of the U. S. A. an old alumnus writes his enthusiasm about our football team. He has watched the progress of the team in the Seattle Star of Washington State. These are his comments on the Western Maryland game and the season:

"My gosh! what a team Maryland has this year, and of course this remark goes for that wonderful fellow you call the coach.

"Received the final score of the Western Maryland game over the radio. What a score! Some said Maryland had a tough game to face.

"Please tell Ray Poppelman I send congratulations. Also, we must not lose sight of the other 10 fellows on the team that made Ray's long runs possible by their splendid interference.

—A. T. SCHENCK, '06."

University Library Offers

Service To Former Students

Especially to the former students of the University who do not have the resources of a library nearby, the University Library is glad to lend non-fiction books when they are not in active use on the campus.

One or two books can be sent for a period of two weeks, the borrower to pay for their return by parcel post insured. On request an extension of the time may be granted, if the books can still be spared. There are many books in biography, travel, history, sociology, science, the useful arts, poetry, etc., from which to choose, and our Reference Librarian will be glad to select a book for you, or to make short lists of our best books on various subjects for those who wish them. For technical subjects, members of the faculty would cooperate in listing good books for those who would like to continue their university education in this way.

Address all requests to Miss Grace Barnes, Librarian, University of Maryland, College Park, Md.

ATHLETIC BUILDING

WILL BE DEDICATED

The building is located at the north end of Byrd Stadium and diagonally across from the old Rossburg Building.

Seating Capacity Large

The building is 172 feet long, 136 feet wide, and 40 feet high, with a seating capacity of 4,262 for basketball games and 6,000 for boxing matches or when it is used as an auditorium. For night contests the latest in artificial lighting has been installed.

The south side will be used for reserved seats and the north side given over to the students, faculty members and paying guests who wish to accompany them.

Trophy Room Provided

The building provides dressing rooms for all varsity athletic teams as well as accommodations for visiting teams to remain overnight. In the building will be located a gallery trophy room where the pictures of all Maryland's athletic teams will be placed with the many trophies won. In addition, offices for the director of athletics and his assistants, conference room, and an exercise room for the faculty will also be provided.

This latest structure to be completed on the campus at College Park, which is part of a large building program, was designed by Howard W. Cutler, a Washington architect.

Alumni Day, June 4

Plans have been made to hold the Commencement exercises for the entire University in the new building on June 4, next. On the morning of the same day the Alumni Association will hold its annual meeting.

This issue was printed and presented to those alumni attending the Home-coming Supper Dance, with a full account of the football game and the happenings of the day. This feat, a remarkable achievement for the Diamondback staff, which, with the editorial, is indicative of the confidence that the student-body has in the Alumni Association. This, it is believed, should be an incentive to every member of the association to resolve that in the New Year he is going to do more toward the furtherance of the progress of the association and the University. Boxing Enjoying Second Season At College Park

Varsity boxing, with William Whipp again as coach, is in its second year at Maryland with the outlook that it will become a regular pastime.

With the majority of last year's squad back, including the unbeaten welterweight, Bernard Keener, and a number of other letter-men, a capable team is likely to be developed before the season is over.

The Old Line boxers were to open their campaign against V. M. I. at Lexington, on January 16, with the following other bookings:

February 6—Washington and Lee.
February 12—St. John's.
February 20—North Carolina State.

At Wisconsin, basket-ball is an exceptionally popular sport; in fact, the training season began as early as October 1.

Luis Alberto Aubry, '30, a native of Peru, came to Maryland in 1928 to take a special two-year course in agriculture, which he completed in June, 1930. Shortly after graduation he returned to Peru where his experience has been varied and interesting. He has been a salesman of agricultural products, an owner and operator of a farm, which he named Maryland, fought in the last revolution, at which time he received a wound in his left shoulder, and has married the daughter of the last president of Peru. It is not definitely known whether the marriage took place before or after the revolution. His address is Lima, Peru.

RITCHIE COLISEUM, Maryland's stupendous monument to the progress of athletics, was dedicated January 20, and named in honor of our eminent Governor, Albert C. Ritchie. Millard E. Tydings, '10, United States Senator from Maryland and president of the Alumni Association, made the dedicatory address. One of the largest and most colorful crowds ever assembled at College Park, approximately 5,000 persons, packed the new building for the gala opening.

Rear-Admiral Thomas G. Hart, superintendent of the Naval Academy, represented that institution and took part in the dedicatory exercises. The Naval Academy basket-ball team op-

President Pearson Host to Football Squad At Banquet

President Raymond A. Pearson was host to the 1931 football squad, coaches of all teams and members of the Athletic Board, at a banquet given at the Cosmos Club, in Washington, January 22. The only other guests present were: Dr. W. W. Skinner, '95, member of the Board of Regents and quarter-back on one of Maryland's teams back in the nineties, James M. Burnes, '11, vice-president of the "M" Club, and Gordon Zimmerman, editor of the student paper.

President Pearson, in his remarks, lauded the high standard that athletics have attained at this University and the values derived from athletic competition: "Athletics generally are recognized to have such value in University life that university presidents and faculty members no longer find it necessary to defend them," he said. At the conclusion of the dinner, Jack Norris, on behalf of the squad, expressed appreciations and presented President Pearson with a desk set.

Dr. C. O. Appleman, dean of the Graduate School and professor of plant physiology and bio-chemistry at the University, has received the high honor of the Barnes' life membership in the American Society of Plant Physiologists. He is only the fourth man in the history of the society to be so honored.

At intervals, the members of the society vote to decide upon a person who is worthy of the award. The selection is based upon long and continued contributions to the science of plant physiology.

The award was established by the society in memory of Dr. C. R. Barnes, who was the first outstanding plant physiologist in America.

Horticultural Building Dedicated January 6

Dedication exercises for the Horticultural Building were held January 6 in the new building, as a feature of the annual meeting of the Maryland State Horticultural Society.

Senator Earl W. Withgott, vice-president of the society, gave the dedicatory address. Others who participated in the program were Maj. E. Brooke Lee, member of the Board of Regents; Dr. R. A. Pearson, president of the University; Dr. H. J. Patterson, dean of agriculture, and Dr. T. B. Symons, director of Extension Service.

The building is located on the west side of the road leading to the poultry plant and facing the college campus. It is 186 feet long and 98 feet wide, containing spraying rooms, fruit-packing laboratories, storage rooms, offices, classrooms, research library, assembly hall, and, in addition to the building, a newly acquired fruit farm, all of which go to make up a complete horticulture division of the College of Agriculture.

posed the Old Liners in the athletic feature of the program. Maryland fittingly won the encounter.

Admiral Hart Speaks

President Raymond A. Pearson presided at the ceremonies. Rev. Ronald Taylor gave the invocation. Prof. Chas. S. Richardson, a member of the faculty for 35 years, gave the opening address. Admiral Thomas G. Hart, U. S. N., spoke briefly of the enjoyable visit he was having at the University. John T. O'Neil, '30, former president of the student government, told the part that the students played in making the building a reality. Senator Tydings' dedicatory address is printed elsewhere in this issue. Governor Albert C. Ritchie, in his brief, tactful, gracious, and eloquent response to the dedication, won the whole-hearted plaudits of the audience.

Portrait Unveiled

Following the Governor's response, an oil-painted portrait of him was unveiled by the Misses Margaret Burdette and Marjorie Willoughby, upon which there was directed a spot-light while all other lights were turned out. Music for the occasion was furnished by the University's little symphony orchestra, Prof. Goodyear conducting.

For the opening occasion the front of the building was flooded with arc lights, giving a very impressive appearance to the building. The various offices, smoking, rest and dressing rooms were open for inspection. The gallery trophy room, located on the second floor front, was decorated with pictures of many former athletic teams, trophies and banners won. It was a place of interest to many of the former students who returned for the occasion.

Building A Realization

The building is regarded as one of the most complete structures of its kind in the East. A description of the building will be found on the fifth page of this issue. One newspaper writer, in speaking about the shower facilities of the building, said, "Maryland must believe that cleanliness is next to Godliness by the number of showers located in the new athletic building."

Ritchie Coliseum completes the five new buildings started on the campus last spring. It is also the realization of the twenty-year dream of the University's distinguished leader, Curley Byrd.

Dedicatory Address

By SENATOR MILLARD E. TYDINGS

President of the University of Maryland Alumni Association.

THIS is a signal day in the history of the University of Maryland. It culminates to some extent a comprehensive program of structural and educational development which began about ten years ago, and now adds a splendid building upon this campus which is worthy of this State's university, in keeping with Maryland's dignity and fittingly marks the new place among similar universities of the country to which this institution has climbed.

All of this is very heartening to those who have bent their efforts to have this vision translated into reality. It offers the faculty, the alumni, the student body, and Maryland citizens the privilege of extending our thanks to those whose enterprise and tenacity have made this dream of progress come true.

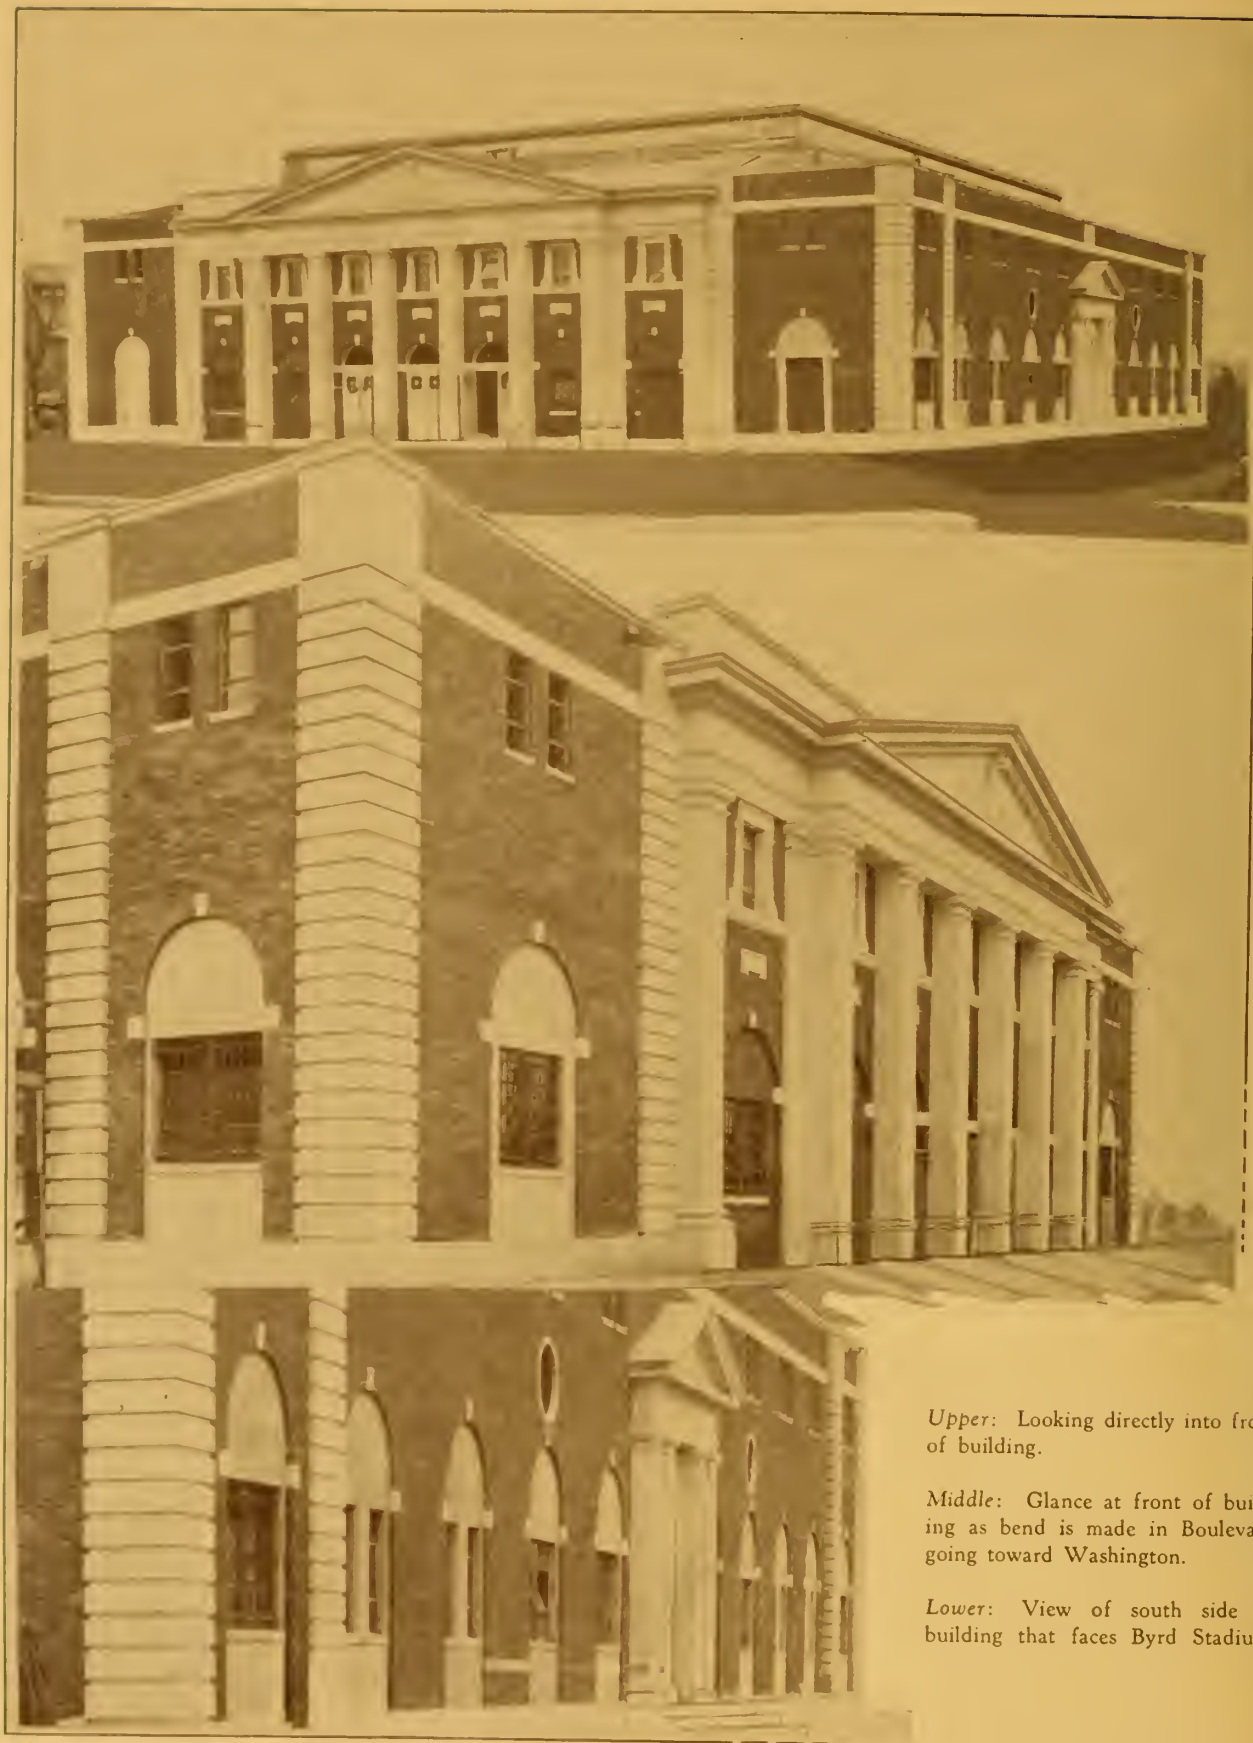

In the group of those who have worked in season and out, unremittingly and often at great personal sacrifice, there stands out the name of one alumnus whose every endeavor for the past two decades has been to make this place an educational seat such as Marylanders could view with pride. All of us have seen this man spin the web of his vision into the fabric of accomplishment. We are grateful to Curley Byrd, the inspiring leader and genius of the University of Maryland, and we are particularly grateful to him on this occasion when we have assembled to dedicate this splendid building.

But in a peculiar sense we are met for another purpose—to give to this splendid structure a name at once worthy of the traditions and heritages of Maryland and one which will be inspiring to its student body while endowing its walls with an outstanding personality. So we scan the parade of events to find such a name. We look through the fields of larger happenings, of national and international leadership and dominance for one who has won such a place for himself upon the thresholds of greatness that we may give this structure his name and honor ourselves and it in the christening. Our search is for one who must fulfill more than commonplace requirements. We want to select a name that stands for vision, signifies accomplishment, portrays courage and radiates sincerity. The name of a man whose record lifts him far above the ranks of mediocrity, whose record and thought and action commands the respect and kindles the admiration of thoughtful citizens everywhere. We find that man in our own State in the being of our present governor, Albert C. Ritchie. During the long span of his stewardship of this State he presented first to us and later to the nation, a definite political creed and philosophy which had its roots in the soil of experience; a concept which was nurtured and visioned by common sense as applied to the needs of the present, buttressed by a rugged faith in American ideals, marked by a record of accomplishment, impregnated with sincerity and courage, and which has been brought to flower in a period of depression, equivocation, governmental decay and individual ruin to such an extent that the eyes of millions instinctively are turning toward him at this time. His is not a greatness achieved in a day but through the years. The respect accorded him at this time is not for a single act but for scores of them. The record which he has made is no phenomenon but the result of deep thinking, wide vision, courageous action and beneficent results.

When, following the War, the soothsayers offered remedies of sophistry, unmindful of the plaudits of the hour, Governor Ritchie talked realities and common sense. When unwise and ill conceived innovations, brooking distress, were offered the State and the Nation he did not hesitate in season and out to stand by his creed and fight for its adoption. When paternalism spread its blanket over our entire country he was first in the field to fight it, to predict the distress which has come in its wake and to arouse our people from a governmental lethargy; and in so doing has had placed in his hands the leadership of a large body of political thought.

In dedicating this building and giving to it the name of RITCHIE COLISEUM we name it for a man who scorned the hisses of the ignorant and was not flattered by the plaudits of admirers, who was content to shape his action by the imperishable truth within himself, now so much needed in our political life. We name it for one who, when so-called leaders were bending the submissive knee, fought nearly single handedly to preserve and conserve the most priceless boon of the centuries, the right of local self-government. We name it for one whose political philosophy has been so demonstrably fitting and sure that those who at first scoffed and scorned have returned to adopt and follow it. We name it for one who will ever live in the hearts of Marylanders as its greatest executive and administrator, a man to whom sincerity is innate, courage instinctive, vision natural and wisdom spontaneous. We name it for one behind whom the people of Maryland are a significant unit, for one whose name is on the lips of people everywhere, one worthy of the highest honors mankind can bestow. We name it RITCHIE COLISEUM after Governor Albert C. Ritchie, our distinguished entry in the list, and worthy in every respect, to be the next President of the United States.

Lower: View of south side of building that faces Byrd Stadium.

Seeing the Ritchie Coliseum

IN THE University grounds, just opposite the Rosshourg Inn, one of the oldest and most historic buildings in Maryland, is located The Ritchie Coliseum, one of the most complete buildings of its kind in the country.

Entering the Main Lobby, which faces the Washington-Baltimore Boulevard, we see through an archway the large playing floor. On each side of this arch is a ticket booth, accommodating two salesmen. To the right is a small waiting room, and just beyond this the Athletic Office. To the left of the lobby is another office and a stairway which leads up to the large trophy room and lounge. The women's waiting room is directly at the head of the stairs, and a faculty smoking room is at the far end of the trophy room.

Going on the main floor, because of the almost perfect proportions of the building, one is not at first struck with the real size of the room. To truly appreciate its size one should walk to the top row of seats and look down on the playing floor and across to the other side of the building. Then one gets a true perspective. For basketball a crowd of 4,282 persons may be accommodated with reserved seats, and, for boxing, or used as an auditorium with chairs on the floor, approximately six thousand persons may be seated. The playing floor allows a margin of $16\frac{1}{2}$ feet at each end and $5\frac{1}{2}$ feet at each side. Lighting, during the day, comes from the huge skylight. The lighting system for night was designed only after exhaustive tests by the university's electrical engineering department.

The heating arrangements not only provide for heat but also for ventilation and for filtering the heated air. Automatic mechanical devices control the heat and also the outside ventilation.

Large fans and air ducts insure an almost perfect supply of purified air. For summer, a system of forced ventilation may be used to cool the building.

On the second floor, above the rear lobby, to the left of the stairway, is a large lounging and dormitory room, with showers and toilets on the right.

Above this is a third floor with six emergency dormitory rooms.

Beneath the stands are located individual rooms with showers and toilets for football, baseball, lacrosse, track, basketball and boxing teams. There also is a special room for freshman teams, and supplies. Stairs on the right and left of the two lobbies lead to these rooms. To the left, from the main lobby one finds a room for a boxing ring, with a dressing room adjoining; next is the lacrosse room, then the track, the freshman team room, and visiting team quarters. A large storeroom also is on this side.

On the other side we come to the football room and adjacent to this is a trainer's room for rubbing tables, baking lamps and all the paraphernalia that is necessary to keep men in good physical condition. The baseball and basketball room is located next to the trainer's quarters. A room for officials with private shower and toilet comes next. On this side also are a laundry, a large supply and equipment room, and the men's public smoking room. The laundry is equipped with washing, drying, and ironing machines.

Coming back to the main lobby, we leave with the thought that for utilitarian purposes and architectural attainment the building meets every requirement of a modern university.

BEING DEVELOPED

opening of the University in the fall. An effort will be made to get at least four completed so that they may be used not only for recreational purposes, but by the varsity tennis squad. Unless some courts can be constructed at an early date, the tennis team for the coming spring might almost as well "shut up shop," as it will have no place of its own upon which to play. The new athletic building was erected on the site of the old courts.

Physical Recreation

The construction of the new courts is one of the many steps the University is taking in providing physical recreation for all students and in creating facilities for training of teachers of physical education. For several years the University has been working along a well-defined plan for the development of its athletics, which provides not only teams for intercollegiate competition but also gives equal attention to the provision of adequate facilities for general physical recreation for all students, with the physical education department working in collaboration with the Reserve Officers' Training Corps unit, the development of intramural sports, the building up of a corrective system of health exercises and examinations, with all these lines working in conjunction with the College of Education to train teachers of physical education for the high schools.

Mackert, '21, In Charge

An intramural sports athletic committee has been organized much along the lines of the athletic board, which controls intercollegiate athletics, to control intramural athletics. Prof. C. L. Mackert, '21, former Maryland football star, is in charge of the general physical education work and is chairman of the intramural sports committee. Mackert also is to be appointed to membership on the athletic board and officially will begin his period of service on that board next fall, although he probably will sit in the various meetings of the board from now on.

It is the University's intention not to add more new sports to the list of intercollegiate activities, but to use all its spare funds for the development of intramural competition. In fact, there has been some sentiment developed toward the elimination of one or two sports now being fostered so that the funds being used for them may be thrown into activities that should reach larger groups of students. In other sports the intercollegiate and intramural phases are to be merged in a way that should build up both.

In track, for instance, in which Maryland has not done very well in the last two or three seasons, it is the intention to build up a system of intramural competition, to get out at least 200 men, that will run throughout the entire year and from this competition get the men to compete in the intercollegiate meets in the spring. It

Basket-Ball Team

Now Going Strong

The Old Line basket-ball team, after dropping two games by a total of three points, hit its stride and when this was written had won seven straight. Five of the wins were in the Southern Conference realm and put Maryland among the unbeaten leaders.

Two sophs have broken into the regular line-up, with Rufus Vincent at center and Bucky Buscher at guard. Three vets, Shorty Chalmers and Ed Ronkin, forwards, and Bozie Berger, guard, have been the others to start most of the tilts. Jack Norris, regular center last year, has played almost as much as Vincent at center, and Charlie May, veteran guard, has gotten into a majority of the battles.

Spencer Chase, another soph, Frenchy Cohen and Bob Snyder, the former a veteran and the latter another rookie, along with Bob Wilson, whose trick arm is bothering him again, also have seen service.

Wilbur Wright, a promising soph, has been off the squad on account of scholastic difficulties, but may get back.

Since hitting their stride, the Old Liners have played a kind of basket-ball that would give any team in the country all that it is looking for.

A record crowd of 5,000 saw the Navy contest which was the athletic feature of the dedication of Ritchie Coliseum. It was the largest crowd by a wide margin that ever witnessed a basket-ball game in the South Atlantic section.

Maryland has 19 games in all on the schedule, the last contest before going to the Southern Conference tourney at Atlanta being with Hopkins at College Park, on February 24.

is hoped to work out the same system with boxing, which also will be developed on a much greater scale than either last year or this.

Intercollegiate Competition

The development of this system of intramural sports and general physical education will in no way interfere with intercollegiate athletics, but actually should supplement intercollegiate athletics by providing a larger reservoir of material. Maryland will continue its program of intercollegiate competition for football, lacrosse, basket-ball, baseball, track, and boxing in much the same way it has been carrying it on the last few years. The Old Line school, at least as it conducts athletics, has no worries about overemphasis on athletics and recognizes that intercollegiate competition has come to have an almost indispensable place in university life. It simply will supplement that with a system sufficiently comprehensive to reach every student and to aid the high schools by providing them with professionally trained physical education teachers, both men and women.

RESPOND TO THE ROLL CALL

University Dental School

Has Ice Hockey Team

Ice hockey is proving a very popular sport in Baltimore, a league organized this year having created a good deal of enthusiasm. The University Dental School has a team in the league. On the team are several chaps who have had a good deal of experience playing the game in Canada and New England, and so far they have proved to be the best team in the league.

A good many people regard ice hockey as the fastest, most exciting game in the way of sports, with the possible exception of "jai alai," a game played considerably in Spain, Cuba and some South American and Central American countries.

Syracuse, who were scheduled to play lacrosse here April 16, have requested that the game be postponed until next season. The request was granted and Syracuse will visit College Park on May 6 in 1933 as the main attraction of the annual Spring Field Day.

It is reported that the basket-ball game which Maryland won from Virginia at Charlottesville, Jan. 21, was one of the most brilliant games ever played in the Virginia Gymnasium. A capacity crowd was present. Maryland won on its greater accuracy from the foul line, as 12 field goals were scored by each team.

Boxing Team Is Beaten

Maryland's boxing team, which is in the throes of being built up, lost its first meet of the year to V. M. I. It dropped six of the seven bouts, Bernard Keener, welterweight, being the only Old Line winner.

Frosh Quint Doing Well

Despite that he has no great material, Jack Faber is turning out a winning freshman basket-ball team. The Old Line Cubs won five of their first six games, losing the one they dropped by a single point. Their schedule calls for 13 tilts.

Alumni Day June 4

The Alumni Board met January 20 at College Park, with President M. E. Tydings, '10, presiding.

The date for the Alumni Reunion for 1932 and the establishing of the tradition memorial, by the alumni, on the campus, were the subjects of importance to be discussed. President Tydings was the originator of the tradition idea.

A motion was made at the last annual meeting of the association—That Alumni Day be held on Saturday preceding Commencement—which assumed that Commencement would be held on the following Tuesday, as has been the procedure in the past. But this year the Commencement Exercises for the entire University will be held in the Ritchie Coliseum, at College Park, on Saturday, June 4. Therefore, the board felt that no better time could be chosen for Alumni Day than Saturday, June 4. The annual alumni meeting will be held as usual at 10:30 in the morning followed by the luncheon at 12:30 with the Commencement exercises holding the center of attraction in the afternoon. This day it is expected will be one of the greatest days in the history of the University.

Following the meeting, the members of the board were guests of the Athletic Association at the dedication exercises of the Ritchie Coliseum.

H. Victor "Vic" Keen, '22, erstwhile baseball star, was given a farewell banquet by the Point Breeze Club when he resigned his position with the Western Electric Point Breeze Works, January 8, to join his father in business. "Vic" was in the Technical Branch of the works inspection department and vice-chairman of the athletic committee of the club.

The Pointer, a publication of the company, spoke of Vic as follows: "We wish him well. We are sorry to see him go because he is a fine fellow-worker. He will leave behind a host of friends and man has no finer tribute." The banquet was evidence of how those who were closely associated with him evaluated all he has done for the Point Breeze Club.

How Classes Have Responded To Roll Call For '31-'32 Dues

YEAR OF CLASS

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION:

The chart alongside of this communication shows to what degree respective classes have paid their alumni dues. Elsewhere is published also the names of all individuals whose dues are paid.

It is hoped all individuals, whose names are not published in this issue as having paid their dues, will at once send to the Alumni Treasurer, Dr. T. B. Symons, College Park, Md., this small but necessary contribution, without which the usefulness and the activities of the Alumni Association are seriously curtailed.

The progress which the University of Maryland has made during the past 10 years has been due, in large part, to a rebirth of spirit, resulting in a united and supporting alumni toward its various efforts.

The officers of the Alumni Association wish to make this year a memorable one in the history of our Alma Mater. Alumni dues are the ammunition with which the association must go into action. Without these small contributions a vast field of constructive endeavor is denied. There are many things of outstanding importance which cry out for attention and which could be remedied, were dues from the members of the association in hand to further such projects.

As president of your association, is it too much for me to ask that I have your immediate support; that you help me put our plans into operation through the medium of the payment of alumni dues?

Quite often these matters are simply forgotten, though the spirit is willing. However, the Alumni Association is just as potent as the acts of its members permit it to be. We need the dues of those members who have not paid. Kindly scan the list of those who have paid, and if your name is not there, please act NOW and send your check, thus accomplishing three major objectives.

1st—Permitting your association to function efficiently in furthering the development and progress of the University of Maryland.

2nd—To give your class a better standing in paid dues per class than it now enjoys.

3rd—In this small measure, evidence your interest and real support toward the goal of making the University of Maryland an institution second to none in the country.

I feel I can count on all members who have not paid their annual dues to respond at this time.

With best wishes to you and yours, I am

Sincerely,

'10, President, Alumni Association.

Responses To Roll Call

This issue of the NEWS is being used in a concerted effort to procure more paid-up members of the association for this year.

The following alphabetical list is of alumni who have made the usual $2.00 contribution for the year 1931-32.

Look over the list and if your name is there, the Alumni Board thanks you most sincerely; if not, will you please refrain from procrastinating longer and send your check in without delay. The number who have responded for the year 1931-32 is far behind the number who responded last year and to further the progress of the association it is necessary that we have your financial assistance as well as your enthusiasm.

OLD LINE ATHLETIC ACTIVITIES

By W. H. ("Bill") HOTTEL

Varsity Basketers Have Great Season

Win 16 Out of 19 Games In Regular Schedule—Seven of 12 Players
Will Be Graduated.

Winning 16 out of 19 games in the regular season, the Maryland Varsity basket-ball team made the second best record it has attained in the nine years that it has been a fully established sport at the University. Basket-ball, as a regular pastime, dates back to the 1923-24 season when H. Burton Shipley took charge. He has been on the job ever since. Back in 1926 the team won 14 out of 16 games.

After losing the first two tilts of the season, one in overtime and the other by one point, the Old Liners captured 16 of the next 17 contests, their lone defeat in that time coming at the hand of North Carolina with which it broke even in two games in the season.

Maryland, 1931 winner of the Southern Conference title, entered the 1932 tournament in defense of its title, but the team was sadly off form in its opening game and was eliminated by Florida, probably the weakest team it played all year—surely one of the weakest. The score was 39 to 24. Despite its poor play in the game with Florida, Maryland was leading by 4 points when Berger and Ronkin went out on personal fouls midway of the last half.

Shorty Chalmers, Spencer Chase, and Ed Ronkin, forwards; Jack Norris and Rufus Vincent, centers, and Bozie Berger, Charlie May, and Buckey Buscher, guards, did most of Maryland's playing.

Bob Wilson, Frenchy Cohen, Bob Snyder, and Wilbur Wright also were on the squad and saw some action.

Seven of these—Chalmers, Berger, Ronkin, Norris, May, Wilson, and Cohen will be missing next year. This will leave only five players, who will then be juniors, around which to build the 1932-33 quint. They are Chase, Vincent, Buscher, Wright, and Snyder.

Cumberland Group Announces

The University of Maryland Alumni Club of Allegany and Garrett Counties and adjacent territory will hold their annual banquet and dance at the Cumberland Country Club, April 2, beginning at 7:30 P. M., as announced by Dr. A. H. Hawkins, president. Congressman Wm. P. Cole, Jr., '10, will be the speaker of the evening. All alumni in the vicinity of Cumberland are urged to get in touch with Walter C. Capper, secretary, and make reservations.

Last year the annual "get-together" was attended by more than 150 alumni and the indications are, that this year's meeting will surpass all previous gatherings.

Maryland Co-ed Winner Of National Rifle Honors

Irene Knox

Maryland has the women's rifle champion of the United States in the person of Irene Knox, a sophomore in the College of Education.

Shooting against the best markswomen of the country, the Maryland co-ed made the exceptional score of 599 out of a possible 600 to take the national open championship. She also won the 50-foot title with a score of 398 out of 400.

This gave her a grand total of 997 out of a possible 1,000, a score that is rarely matched by the leading collegiate riflemen.

Sergt. Earl Hendricks, coach of the Maryland markswomen, also believes the Old Liners have a fine chance to win the National team title match which now is being shot. The Maryland girls have been taking fine scores.

Freshmen Basket-ball Team

Takes 10 Out of 12 Battles

Maryland's freshman basket-ball team, tutored by Jack Faber, won 10 of the 12 games on its schedule this season.

The Old Line Cubs broke even in two contests with the Catholic University yearlings and lost to Teel High, of Washington, for its only two defeats.

St. John's frosh and Hopkins yearlings, twice, were among the victims of the young Terrapins.

Ike Rabbitt, Roy Yowell, and Chester Cross, forwards; Warren Evans, center, and Stewart McCaw and Donald DeVeau, guards, were the leading players.

Dick Nelson, who promised to develop into a fine basketer, decided he did not want to play the game.

None of the players who will go up to H. Burton Shipley, varsity coach, was a standout.

DON'T DELAY—RESPOND TODAY

Outlook Is Bright For Spring Teams

Track, Baseball, and Lacrosse One For Good Season—Tennis Also Should Do Better.

Old Line squads now are looking to the spring schedules and the track, baseball, and lacrosse aspirants have gone to work in earnest.

The outlook in all three of these sports is encouraging. The track team should be better than last year; the baseball outlook is exceptionally bright, and the lacrosse twelve is hopeful of being in the thick of the fight for the honor of representing the United States at the Olympic games at Los Angeles this summer.

Geary Eppley lost only a few track stars from last year and got some pretty good recruits from the 1931 freshmen.

Burton Shipley, of the ball team, has most of his leading Varsity players of last spring and got the best talent that has come up from a yearling nine in many moons.

Jack Faber has three jobs to fill on his lacrosse team, but has back his brother, Skip, and Ed Ronkin who were out with injuries last year. Joe Deckman's job at point will be hardest to fill. He was labeled the best defense man in the game last season.

Tennis, which has not fared so well in recent seasons, should be on a better basis this year. A schedule is being arranged and courts, now lacking, will be provided.

Boxers Do Well In Winning

One of Their Four Matches

Maryland's boxing team, in its second season of the sport, won one of its four matches and showed to good advantage, in view of the time the pastime has had to develop.

The Old Liners defeated St. John's, but lost to V. M. I., Washington and Lee, and North Carolina State.

However, Coach Bill Whipp's charges won a total of 10 out of 28 bouts over the season.

Bernard Keener, welterweight, the leading boxer on the team, entered the Southern Conference tourney, but lost out in the first round. He sent Garner, the eventual champion in this class, an extra round before losing the decision.

Other leading members of the Maryland team were:

Frank Maneiri, bantam; Joe Harris and Harry Carroll, featherweights; Frank Isemann, lightweight; Victor Wungate, welterweight; James Loughran and Frank Hawkins, middleweights; Fred Nordenholz, light-heavy.

All these will be back next year, except Loughran.

Third Time Shooting Honor
Won by Maryland.

THE University's co-ed rifle team successfully defended and retained the National Intercollegiate championship title won last year. Minni Cannon, a senior in the College of Arts and Sciences, is captain of the team.

The Maryland girls made the high score of 2,969 out of a possible 3,000 to win over Missouri with a score of 2,957 and the University of Washington, also with 2,957. A shooting technicality gave Missouri second place.

Irene Knox, a sophomore, led the team in shooting and performed an unparalleled feat, for both men's and women's indoor shooting, by making a perfect score of 600. In fact, Miss Knox has only missed a perfect score for all matches of the season by two points. Josephine Knox, sister of Irene, followed a close second in all three stages of the match, with Betty Owen finishing in the high scores. Other girls to participate in the match were: Helen Bradley, Margaret Burdette, Frances McCubbin, Betty Mulligan, Ruth Diggs, and Lillian Drake.

Congratulations Are In Order for H. H. Holzapfel, Jr., '93

In behalf of the members of the Alumni Association, the ALUMNI NEWS takes this occasion to congratulate Mr. Henry H. Holzapfel, Jr., '93, eminent alumnus and member of the Board of Regents, on the 20th anniversary of his appointment to the board. He was originally appointed to the Board of Trustees of the Maryland Agricultural College in April, 1912, which later became the Board of Regents of the University when the consolidation of the Maryland State College at College Park and the University of Maryland in Baltimore took place in 1920. Mr. Holzapfel has always been a loyal alumnus and in 1912 was elected president of the Alumni Association. He now has two sons who are graduates of the University, in the class of '29—Henry H., III, and William McClave. Henry, III, then entered the University Law School, in Baltimore, and will graduate this year.

While the girls are being given a great deal of praise, the efficient coaching and diligent efforts of Sergt. Earl Hendrick, coach, must not be overlooked. For several seasons he has tutored the gun girls in a highly successful manner.

This season's win is the third time that the co-ed team has won the title and the custody of the trophy given by the National Rifle Association. The first win was in 1926.

More Former Maryland

Students Become Aviators

When the graduation exercises at the U. S. Army Flying School located at Kelly Field, Texas, were held, February 26, two more former Maryland students graduated and received their commissions in the flying corps. Harry Wells, a member of the class of '28, and Harold Kreider, a member of the class of '29, are the latest Marylanders to graduate in aviation. Both have been ordered to report to Langley Field, Va., for duty. Wells, whose home is in Chevy Chase, Md., and Kreider, who lives in Hyattsville, visited the campus several times during their brief furlough before reporting for duty. Wells is a radio fan and has had some interesting experiences with a radio expedition in the wilds of Borneo.

OLD LINE ATHLETIC ACTIVITIES

By W. H. ("Bill") HOTTEL

Maryland Builds Lacrosse Twelve

Pugh is Only Member of Squad Who Came to College Park With Any Experience.

Maryland's lacrosse team, rated one of the foremost contenders for the right to represent the United States in the Olympic games at Los Angeles this summer, has 41 men on its squad, yet Gordon Pugh, center, is the only stickman who ever played the game before matriculating at College Park.

The Old Liners also have the youngest Varsity lacrosse coach in the country in Jack Faber, an alumnus, who also handles the freshman football and basket-ball squads.

Maryland is planning to play more of the football teams in the far South section of the Southern Conference.

It will meet Duke next fall and already has booked Florida for a home-and-home arrangement, starting at Jacksonville on December 3, 1933.

Negotiations also are on between the Old Liners and Georgia Tech and Louisiana Tech.

Bozie Berger, Maryland's great all-round athlete who starred in football last fall and followed that up by winning a place on the All-America basket-ball quint, appears as if he was going to have a banner year in baseball. Big-league scouts are keeping an eye on him.

Intramural sports that now are being put on a firm basis at the University of Maryland under the direction of Charles LeRoy Mackert, an alumnus and graduate of the physical education department of Columbia University, are proving a boon to the regular pastimes.

Squads turning out for freshman sports at the Old Line institution are much larger than in previous years.

Berger Again Chosen All-American Basketer

For the second consecutive year, Louis "Bozey" Berger, a three-letter man—football, basket-ball, and base-ball—has been named to supreme honor in intercollegiate basket-ball.

He was chosen a guard by the official All-American Board and was commented upon in the following manner, "Berger is a remarkable all-round player who does everything well."

Movietone news reels have been taken of the official selections.

Ball Team Loses Two Tilts In Dixie

Maryland's baseball team pried open the spring sport lists by taking two defeats in a trip into the South, North Carolina turning the trick, 4 to 0, and Duke by 5 to 3. A game listed with Virginia was prevented by rain.

The Old Liners went South with little preparation as compared to the teams they met, weather and ground conditions at College Park being such, all during March, as to greatly retard Coach Shipley and his charges.

Bozie Berger played a sensational game against Duke in the field and got two hits, while, it is said, four big-league scouts were on hand to watch him perform.

Maryland has a good team and will prove it just as soon as it has a chance to get into real trim.

Here is the way the team lined-up in its first two games:

Wolf, second; Buscher, center; Berger, third; Chalmers, short; Gorman, right; Chase, first; Cronin, left; Sterling and O'Hara, catchers; Davidson and Physioc, pitchers.

McIlwee, one of the leading 1931 hurlers, and Ruble are the other pitchers, while Benner and Maxwell, outfielders, and Bartoo, infielder, are the other leading players.

Berger, Chalmers, Cronin, and Sterling are seniors; McIlwee and Maxwell are juniors, and the others are sophomores.

Events Are Added To Field-day List

22 Contests on Scholastic Card on May

7—Varsity Track, Lacrosse

Teams in Battles.

Maryland has enlarged its program for the annual invitation interscholastic track and field meet at College Park, which this year will be held on Saturday, May 7. Geary (Swede) Eppley, track coach at Maryland, is chairman of the games committee.

A one-mile relay race has been added to the usual 13 events in the South Atlantic interscholastic events that are open to all. Other contests in this section are: 100, 220, and 440-yard dashes, half-mile and mile runs, 120-yard high and 220-yard low hurdles; high and broad jumps, javelin and discus throws, shot-put and pole vault.

Two events have been added to the list closed to county schools of the State, the 220-yard dash and a half-mile relay, making seven contests in all, the others being: 100 and 440-yard dashes, half-mile run, broad jump and shot-put.

An added feature attraction will be a mile relay race for the State championship. It is open to all high and prep schools in Maryland.

St. John's in Lacrosse

In addition to the interscholastic competition, the Maryland Varsity track team will stage a dual affair with Johns Hopkins to be run concurrently with the schoolboy events, and the Old Line lacrosse twelve will meet St. John's College, of Annapolis, in the grand finale of the day.

It was decided to enlarge the program for the interscholastic track and field competition in order to relieve the congestion from the large number of entries in the quarter-mile runs and to give more athletes a chance to compete.

With spacious Ritchie Coliseum available, in addition to the old gym, Maryland is in a position to take care of the visiting array of athletes in good style.

Having Special Reunions

THE ANNUAL REUNION of former students Saturday, June 4, will be the 41st meeting of the Alumni Association. Millard E. Tydings, '10, U. S. Senator from Maryland and president of the association, will call the meeting to order at 10 A. M. The registration of alumni will begin at 9 A. M. Following the meeting the annual alumni luncheon will be held at 12.30 P. M. in the University Dining-hall for alumni, faculty and guests. Heretofore, this luncheon has been given to the returning alumni, by the University and the association, but due to the economic stress it will be necessary that a nominal charge be made this year.

Many members of the older classes are expected to be present. Former State Senator Frank C. Norwood, '74, who last year represented the oldest class present, Canon Joseph Fletcher, '75; J. F. B. Hyde, '75; and J. B. Gray, '75, are expected to again attend the reunion. Mr. Gray has had two sons to graduate from his alma mater.

Boys Of '87

Plans are being made to have all of the living members of the baseball team of 1887 to return for the reunion. It is the oldest athletic team of which there is a picture in the Trophy Room of the Ritchie Coliseum. Forty-four years ago this team accomplished the achievement of defeating the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, 2 to 1.

At the annual meeting at 10 A. M. in the auditorium in the Agriculture Building, business matters of importance to the general association will be discussed and the officers for the ensuing year elected. In the president's annual address, Senator Tydings, '10, will present plans for the erecting on the campus a suitable memorial for the recording of those outstanding achievements by groups, teams, or individuals.

CLASSES HAVING SPECIAL REUNIONS

The class of 1892 that, last year, had all except one living member present for The Grand Reunion, will again make an effort to have a 100% return. The whereabouts of the other living member, Dr. John D. Brooks, was not known last year. It has since been learned that he is located at the U. S. Veterans' Hospital, Excelsior Springs, Missouri.

1907

The quarter-century mark is the one time that no class will let pass, if possible, without a reunion to renew the loyal fellowship developed on the college campus. J. P. Mudd, '07, a leader in alumni activities, will endeavor to bring the boys of '07, together to celebrate this anniversary.

The class of 1912 made and passed the following resolution before leaving college, 20 years ago: "Resolved, That every 10 years all will make a special effort to return to the campus for a class reunion." This year will be the twenty-year anniversary.

Under the leadership of W. B. Kemp and Robert L. Tolson, communications are being sent to all class members to meet at College Park Saturday, June 4.

Al Heagy, former three-letter Old Line athlete, is doing a good job of coaching the yearling lacrosse squad. He won two and lost two of his first four games, but is interested mainly in teaching fundamentals to future Varsity stickmen.

Medical School To Celebrate 125th Anniversary of Founding

A century and a quarter ago the nucleus of the University of Maryland was organized in the form of a Medical School. The organization took place in December of 1807 and in January, 1808, the State Legislature granted the charter.

On Friday, June 3, at the Lord Baltimore Hotel in Baltimore, the Medical School and its alumni are having a special reunion and banquet, commemorating the founding of the school.

Dr. J. M. H. Rowland, dean of the School of Medicine, Dr. Albert E. Goldstein, president of medical alumni, and Dr. Thomas B. Aycock, secretary, are the leading figures on arrangements for the celebration.

CLASS REUNIONS TO FEATURE DAY

At the alumni luncheon, Dr. Raymond A. Pearson, president of the University, will deliver his annual address of welcome to the returning alumni.

The afternoon will be devoted to class reunions and inspecting the new improvements of the campus. Several classes are having special reunions celebrating particular anniversaries. The classes of '92, '07, and '12 are making special efforts to have many of their members return.

The feature of the afternoon will be the graduating exercises of the Baltimore and College Park classes, at 4 P. M. in Ritchie Coliseum.

Supper Dance

The concluding feature of the day's program will be the supper dance in the University Dining-hall, beginning at 6.30 P. M. or immediately following the conclusion of the commencement exercises. Supper will be served for one hour, but the dancing will continue until 10.30 P. M. The supper dance has met with much favor among the alumni and faculty as a most fitting climax for the day, and judging from the attendance in the past, another record crowd is expected. Reservations should be made as early in advance as possible.

PLACES OF INTEREST ABOUT THE CAMPUS

Ritchie Coliseum—The new athletic structure, dedicated January 20 last, is among the most complete buildings of its kind in the East. In this building, on the second floor, is located the Trophy Room where many of the medals, trophies, banners, and pictures of bygone years are located. A most interesting place for the returning former students.

The New Women's Field-house at the west end of the campus.

The New Women's Dormitory on the hill at the northwest corner of the campus.

The Horticultural Building north of the Agriculture Building.

The Engineering addition and lecture hall.

LOST ALUMNUS FOUND

Dr. John D. Brooks, '92, for many years out of touch with his class and the University, has now been located. Through the efforts of J. Enos Ray, his classmate, and his brother, Charles J. Brooks, we have reestablished contact with Dr. Brooks, better known by his classmates as "Jack." He has had many years of interesting experience as a U. S. Army surgeon, and has touched many places on the globe. He accompanied the American Expeditionary Force to France during the World War. Dr. Brooks studied medicine at Georgetown University, of Washington, D. C. His present address is U. S. Veterans' Hospital, Excelsior Springs, Missouri.

ALUMNI DUCK-PIN TEAM

AGAIN WINS CHAMPIONSHIP

Maryland's bowling alumni of Washington have retained the championship crown of the Intercollegiate Alumni Bowling League of that city, which they have held for four years. The league is made up of teams of alumni, residing in Washington, from Dartmouth, V. M. I., V. P. I., Lehigh, Cornell, Yale, Princeton, Michigan, Harvard, Brown, Navy, and Maryland.

Members of the Maryland team were J. M. Burns, '11; A. C. Buell, '19; Horace W. Talley, '28; E. J. Merrick, Jr., '13; T. J. VanDoren, Jr., '25; and Robert Haig, '21. In addition to winning the team trophy, Burns, Buell, and VanDoren came in for individual laurels.

OLD LINE ATHLETIC ACTIVITIES

By W. H. ("Bill") HOTTEL

Lacrosse Team Is Gaining Maryland National Recognition

Stickers, Trackmen, Subdue Old Rivals

A lacrosse victory over St. John's, 5 to 2; a track triumph over Johns Hopkins, 84 to 42, and an interscholastic meet in which 40 schools sent 366 young athletes into action, made the annual field day at Maryland on May 7 one of the biggest and best occasions in the history of the Old Line institution.

Maryland played fine lacrosse to upset the Johnnies, who had won the national championship three years in a row by making it their lone spring sport, and the track team did its best work of the campaign in disposing of its old rival by a more decisive margin than anyone expected.

A feature of the lacrosse play was the teamwork and fine balance shown by the twelve coached by Jack Faber, Ivan Marty, and Joe Deckman.

A half-mile in 2 minutes and two-fifths of a second by Cornelius Cronin, a sophomore, was the high light among Coach Geary (Swede) Eppley's track charges. He might have beaten 2 minutes had he been pressed.

There were 13 open interscholastic events, six closed to county high schools and a State championship relay on the schoolboy card, and there was plenty of keen competition.

Two Winchester, Va., boys from Handley High School set the only records in the open interscholastics. Stipe hurled the javelin 168 feet, 4 inches, and Dunlap tossed the 12-pound shot 48 feet, 11 inches.

McLaughlin, a sturdy little youngster from Towson High School, ran

Ball Team Is Good, Despite Hard Luck

Although the Varsity ball team has a record of only six wins in its first 11 games, the nine is one of the best in the history of the Old Line school and has played consistently.

It was a bad start, due to poor weather that prevented the players from getting into condition, that made the going tough. After losing four straight, the team came back to capture six out of the next seven, and the lone game dropped was to Duke's high-powered nine in 10 innings.

Hard luck has camped on the trail of Coach Burton Shipley. He lost Ralph Sterling, regular catcher, with a broken ankle; Ralph Chase, first sacker, was out most of the time with a broken finger, and Bucky Buscher, capable center-fielder, was forced to quit and undergo an operation.

Because of the wintry blasts, all of the three leading pitchers—Bill McIlwee, Steve Physioc and Ray Davidson—have suffered with sore arms, a factor that makes uncertain the chances in the remaining tilts.

the 100 in 101.5 seconds to establish the only new mark for the county athletes.

A crowd estimated at more than 4,000 saw the big program, which was run-off in smooth fashion and on time. Eppley was chairman of the games committee.

Spacious new Ritchie Coliseum proved a joy in handling the array of visiting athletes in comfortable style.

Some Choice Tilts Still On Schedule

Maryland's spring sports season is rapidly fading and by the time this is perused by the old grads there will not be a whole lot left to the schedules. However, some of the events that remain are choice morsels worth traveling quite a distance to see.

Here are the high lights of the fast waning campaign:

LACROSSE

May 21—Johns Hopkins at Baltimore Stadium, 3.00.

May 28—Navy at Annapolis, 3.00.

BASEBALL

May 28—Navy at Annapolis, 2.15.

Maryland's battles at Annapolis occupy honor places on the Navy's program for June week that marks graduation festivities. The Old Line stickmen played at Annapolis on the same relative date last spring and this year the diamonders, who were at West Point last season, join the lacrossers. Both games will attract big crowds of visitors, depending entirely upon their choice of sports.

Navy has decided to play the lacrosse game this year on Farragut Field, its football layout, and for the first time, the throng that annually sees the contest may be easily handled. It has been a problem in recent years to accommodate the fans. The lacrosse game will be preceded by a track meet between Navy and Ohio State that should be highly attractive also.

ON THE CAMPUS

Student Government Elections

Ralph Williams, of Washington, a junior in the College of Arts and Sciences, was elected president of the Student Government Association for the ensuing year, '32-'33. John Mitchell, Robert Maxwell, and Esther Hughes were elected vice-president, treasurer, and secretary, respectively.

Omicron Delta Kappa

Harry Hasslinger, of Baltimore, a junior in the College of Education, and editor of the Reveille for 1932 was elected president of Omicron Delta Kappa, honorary leadership fraternity, for the ensuing year.

On Wednesday, May 4, the society held its annual spring pledging ceremony at which time 10 new students were elected.

In addition the society elected to honorary membership, Mr. John M. Dennis, State Treasurer and member of the Board of Regents, and Major Alvan C. Gillem, Professor of Military Science and Tactics at the University.

LIEUT. HARMONY TO COACH
MARYLAND BOXING SQUAD

Maryland will have a new boxing coach beginning with the 1932-33 term in the person of Lieut. Robert W. Harmony, West Point, 1920, and Captain of the Army ring team in his undergraduate days.

Since finishing at West Point, Lieut. Harmony, who will succeed Lieut. Bob Young, '22, an Old Line alumnus, on the military staff, has been coaching boxing at various army posts. He comes to Maryland from Fort Benning.

Young has served his maximum time at Maryland. He will have plenty of time after his military duties are completed each day to take the boxers in hand.

It is planned to make boxing one of the big sports of the physical education program in addition to having a varsity team.

William Whipp, who coached the boxers for two years, was not able to return.

SPORT NOTES

Jess Krajcovic, star guard on the football team, is the leading point scorer for the track squad. He amassed a round 50 points in the first five meets.

Maryland's tennis team has been forced to play on "borrowed" courts this season, but it will be much different next year. Courts for the boys and co-eds now are in the process of construction.
